

Licking Valley Courier

Subscription, $1.50 a year

Devoted to the Advancement of the Better Things for Morgan County and West Liberty

Always in Advance

VOLUME 26, NO. 43

WEST LIBERTY, MORGAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1936

WHOLE NUMBER 1337

LOOK AT RECORD

Last fall Governor Chandler frankly stated to the people of Kentucky what he would attempt to do if elected governor and given the support of the legislature.

He promised a primary election bill that would give the people the right to select their officials in an open primary. This promise has been kept.

He promised to pass a registration bill that would eliminate fraudulent voting in primaries and general elections. He kept this promise.

He promised to provide an old-age pension for the indigent aged. In the budget bill he has provided $2,500,000 for this purpose.

He promised the school teachers of Kentucky sufficient money to provide them with a living wage. This promise was not only complied with, but he also provided $500,000 for free school books for Kentucky children.

In his campaign, Governor Chandler promised to provide sufficient money to rehabilitate the penitentiaries and asylums of Kentucky. As is generally known these institutions are in a condition that reflects discreditably upon Kentucky. Thru his leadership, $2,000,000 has been set aside for this purpose, and plans have been promoted by him where, by the Federal Government will match this $2,000,000 for the rebuilding and improving of the institutions, in Kentucky.

Governor Chandler promised to balance the state budget by economy in government and by raising sufficient money in taxes to put the state's affairs on a business basis. Thru the laws enacted under his guidance, the state will be placed on a business basis and plans are being formulated for refinancing the state debt. This will save the state in interest on warrants and state purchases more than a million dollars annually.

During his campaign Governor Chandler promised the people of Kentucky that out of the road fund he would make substantial provision for improvement of what is known as "county roads." A sum of two million dollars has been set aside for this purpose. Furthermore, the penitentiaries of Kentucky contain over 5,000 convicts who, under present laws, cannot be worked in useful occupation. Governor Chandler has arranged that these men be placed on county road work, wherever possible, the upkeep for these convicts to be paid the Department of Public Welfare from this $2,000,000 road fund.

The state of Kentucky has paid out over a period of many years about $100,000 each year for insurance. The fire loss the state has collected amounts to only $10,000 during the last ten years. Governor Chandler procured enactment of law whereby the state will carry its own insurance in the future.

During his campaign Governor Chandler promised the people that if elected he would reorganize the state government. He has sponsored and passed a reorganization bill unequalled in any state. Under this law it will be impossible for the state's business to be handled carelessly unless the Governor himself is careless.

By his frank dealing with the Legislature and the people of Kentucky Governor Chandler has again established confidence in the hearts of the people of Kentucky.

He has removed a $10,000,000 tax that was raised by a levy upon the necessities of those most unable to pay and transferred this tax to liquor, cigarettes, incomes and luxuries.

He reduced the cost of the automobile license three-fourths.

He has taken the tax off real estate entirely.

He has caused to be passed many other beneficial laws for Kentucky. In about four months, thru his good judgement, his energy and determination, he has made a record unequalled in Kentucky. He has done this in the face of some destructive Democratic obstructionists in the legislature and an almost united Republican opposition. The credit for these accomplishments is due entirely to the splendid leadership of Governor Chandler, supported by a patriotic Democratic legislature.

Tax measures have been passed that some people will disapprove but Kentucky's schools, her teachers, her courts and her institutions must be maintained. If they are maintained

A FINE PAPER

Thru the courtesy of W. S. Potts, a native of Morgan county, but for several years located at and closely associated with the business interests of Corydon, Indiana, we have had the pleasure of reading the Eightieth Anniversary Souvenir Progress Edition of The Corydon Democrat. The paper outlines the progress of the town and community and depicts the fine manner in which the paper has kept pace with the progress of the community.

The paper has had eight different editors in its eighty years.

The largest farm wagon manufacturing plant in all the world is located here. The Kelly Manufacturing Company started in the production of farm wagons in 1900, a time when the automobile and truck began to take the place of the wagon. The company prospered from the start. Many old established wagon manufacturing plants either closed up or were consolidated. The Kelly company absorbed several plants, among others, the Weber of Chicago, a wagon known and used in almost every part of the world.

RESETTLEMENT PROGRAM

F. H. Byars, Supervisor and Cecil Lovely, Assistant Supervisor of the West Liberty office which embraces the counties of Morgan, Magoffin, and Menifee wish to inform the people of these counties that they will continue to take new applications and make loans to farmers to enable them to get the maximum benefits from the agricultural conservation program (the new county agent sign up program) as well as many other helps which the program offers to farmers. They also wish to take this means of encouraging each rehabilitation client both old and new to get in touch with the county agent between now and June 1 and have the new conservation program explained to them.

Any Morgan county farmer, who does not have a 1936 seed loan or livestock loan, that may be interested in getting a resettlement loan, which is described below may call at the Resettlement Office, West Liberty at any time and talk over the matter with us.

The Rural Rehabilitation Division of the Resettlement Administration is in a position to extend small loans to farmers on the basis of farm and home management plans for the following purposes:

1. Purchase of livestock or feed for livestock.
 2. Purchase of farming equipment, fencing, or building materials.
 3. Pay for seeds, fertilizers, and other operation expenses.
 4. Purchase of materials for soil improvement, such as lime and phosphate.
 5. Purchase of home equipment and food or clothing for the family.
- Persons eligible for these loans are small farm owners, or farm tenants, share-croppers, and other farmers who need financial help and who can not obtain reasonable credit elsewhere, provided they have sufficient land on which to make a living and who show integrity, managerial ability, and resourcefulness.

F. H. BYARS

OAKLEY

In loving remembrance of my dear husband and our father, W. G. Oakley, who passed away six years ago this August.

"In our homes he is fondly remembered.

Sweet memories cling to his name; Those who loved him in life sincerely Still love him in death just the same."

His devoted wife and children

TO A WAYSIDE STORE

Oh, wayside store, I wish for you Success in every way;

I wish that you might grow and grow Much larger every day.

But more, I wish within your walls Much happiness to find;

I wish that you might be a friend To all of humankind.

Each day I hope some good you do To all who come your way,

And help to give to all who come A brighter, better day.

MAXINE PFAU

AGED COUPLE MARRIED NEARLY 72 YEARS

Last August Mr. and Mrs. Elkins celebrated their seventy-first wedding anniversary and are looking forward with eagerness to the next anniversary. Until last winter Mr. Elkins enjoyed perfect health, but a partial stroke paralyzed his legs. Since that time he spends part of the time in bed, but is able to be up about half the time. He had been up when this picture was made and the photographer would not request him to get up again, so Mrs. Elkins sat down beside the bed and the picture was made.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Elkins, 91 and 87 years old, respectively, celebrated their seventy-first wedding anniversary last August, and are looking forward with eagerness to their next anniversary, which will be the seventy-second of their wedded life.

The romance between Charley Elkins and his wife, Ann Odie Elkins, started in 1864, during the Civil war, while Elkins was stationed in West Liberty with the union army. This romance has lasted down thru the years.

"We've had our little differences," they said, "but there never has been a rift in our married life."

Mr. and Mrs. Elkins would offer no suggestion for young couples by which they might enjoy the same marital bliss they have enjoyed, other than to say that each party to a marriage must learn that it is a mutual union and each, on occasions, must "give in" to the other. In other words they said it must be a give and take affair. Each must, they said, respect the other's feelings and wishes in all matters that arise.

Mr. and Mrs. Elkins said their home was never blessed with any children and perhaps it is this fact that cemented the bond of love between them more closely.

Mr. Elkins was born in Logan county, Virginia, now West Virginia, July 30, 1844, the son of Wesley Elkins. He enlisted in the union army at Paintsville, Ky., in January, 1862, under Captain Hollingsworth, and served in Company A, Fourteenth Kentucky.

Mr. Elkins saw action in the battle of Middle Creek and then in the Cumberland Gap and Tennessee campaign. In the battle at Chattanooga two of his comrades, Cam Patrick and Wid Patrick, were killed by his side. Later Mr. Elkins was transferred to Sherman's army and was with him in that famous march thru Georgia.

Near the close of the war Mr. Elkins was doing guard duty here when he met and married Ann Odie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Odie. Mrs. Elkins' father was accidentally drowned in Licking river, and her mother later married J. H. Cottle. They had two children, Harlan Cottle, who now lives near Point Pleasant, W. Va., on the Kanawha river, and T. N. Cottle, now living at Paintsville.

KNOWS A KEYNOTER

Senator Albin W. Barkley who was the Keynote at the Democratic National Convention four years ago and who has again been chosen for Keynote at the Convention this year on Tuesday gave out a statement in which he indorses and urges the selection of Governor A. B. Chandler for the Keynote for the Democratic State Convention to be held at Louisville, June 9.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Altho the old age pensions act passed by the General Assembly is to go into effect July 1, it is thought it will probably be September 1 before any money will actually begin to reach the applicants. The act will be administered by the Department of Public Welfare, but no definite plan of administration has yet been worked out.

SUCCESSFUL MINISTER

W. K. (Kelly) McClure a native of Morgan county but for some years past a resident of Bowling Green, a Baptist minister, is a successful Baptist minister at that place. He is a well known winner for Christ. He had the call to the ministry from the local church and will hold a revival meeting under the auspices of the local church, to begin early in June.

NEW NATIONAL PARK

The Mammoth Cave National Park, which has been established, has become a reality. On Monday, March 23, 1936, Secretary Ickes accepted title to 27,000 acres of land in the Cave Run area, which is a part of the Kentucky Caverns. The ultimate acreage of the park will be 50,000 acres. The title to some of the land is awaiting court action by the state. The area already acquired will be improved. Much work has already been done in the territory of the CCC boys of Uncle Sam in that section.

KEEP STREAMS CLEAN

A reader of the Courier calls attention to the thoughtless custom of some people living near fresh water streams of using such streams as a dumping place for dead animals. This is a bad practice is against the laws of the state and is dangerous to all down stream dwellers. Dead animals, poultry, etc., should either be buried or burned. Do not endanger the life of your down stream neighbor's stock or family by your thoughtlessness. Bury or burn your dead stock.

A DEEP DIVER

A bunch of boys have located a nice swimming pool just outside of town where twenty-two hollow empties into the river, but the water is not quite so deep as they thought. Tuesday, Delbert Price took a dive, and plunged his head into the sand with so much force he was unable to extricate himself. The other boys rushed to his assistance. They pulled him out and helped to free his eyes, nose and mouth of sand. In about an hour he was able to be brought home.

POINTS TO RECORD

The editor of the Cynthiana Democrat points with a degree of pride to the fact that a certain copy of his paper sent to a regular subscriber regularly has from twelve to fifteen subscribers actually had fifteen readers, and that it was so worn when it was finally returned that the good wife could not use it for her cupboard shelves. This record may speak well for the editor of the Democrat, but it does not speak so well for the loyalty of the people of Harrison county to a worthy business institution.

CALL FOR CONVENTION

Pursuant to call by the Democratic state central committee, a mass convention of the Democratic voters of Morgan county is hereby called to meet at the courthouse at West Liberty, Kentucky, on Saturday, June 6, 1936, at 1 o'clock p.m., central standard time, to elect 21 delegates to attend the state Democratic convention which convenes at Louisville on June 9, 1936. The state convention will elect delegates to attend the national Democratic convention at Philadelphia for the purpose of nominating a national Democratic ticket.

J. D. WHITEAKER,
Chm. Democratic County Com.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank you many friends for their kindness that was shown at the unexpected death of my husband. The flowers, a symbol of love and respect, given by the state highway department, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nickell, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fanning, and a host of other friends and relatives, certainly were appreciated. "Thou wast all that to me, love, For which my soul did pine— A green isle in the sea, love, A fountain and a shrine All wreathed with fairy fruits and flowers, And all the flowers were mine."

MRS. ASA MOTLEY

BAPTIST CHURCH

Prayer meeting and song service at 7:30 every Thursday night. Sunday school at 10 o'clock a.m. Church services immediately after Sunday school and also at 7:30 p.m. every Sunday. Lord's Supper the first Sunday night in each month. Everybody is invited to attend these services, "Not forsaking the assembling of yourselves together." ROSCO BRONG, pastor Weather: Warm and dry.

THE CONVENTION

A call is printed in this issue for a mass meeting at 21 main county Democrats on June 5 to elect delegates to the state Democratic convention which will hold a revival meeting under the auspices of the local church, to begin early in June.

The Mammoth Cave National Park, which has been established, has become a reality. On Monday, March 23, 1936, Secretary Ickes accepted title to 27,000 acres of land in the Cave Run area, which is a part of the Kentucky Caverns. The ultimate acreage of the park will be 50,000 acres. The title to some of the land is awaiting court action by the state. The area already acquired will be improved. Much work has already been done in the territory of the CCC boys of Uncle Sam in that section.

The Mammoth Cave National Park, which has been established, has become a reality. On Monday, March 23, 1936, Secretary Ickes accepted title to 27,000 acres of land in the Cave Run area, which is a part of the Kentucky Caverns. The ultimate acreage of the park will be 50,000 acres. The title to some of the land is awaiting court action by the state. The area already acquired will be improved. Much work has already been done in the territory of the CCC boys of Uncle Sam in that section.

THE STATE'S DEBT

Had J. C. W. Beekman, chairman of Governor Chandler's reorganization commission, announced recently that the commission has worked out a plan by which the interest rate of the state on its $200,000,000 warrants would be reduced from 5 per cent to 3 per cent, thus saving the state annually $100,000 in interest.

Something similar was proposed under the Laffoon administration, but it was defeated. The proposition is a good one if it can be protected by a decision of the Court of Appeals, and at the same time position a provision prohibiting any future interest-bearing warrants. There is no doubt but that the $200,000,000 debt of the state of Kentucky can be loaded at par at 3 per cent provided that such adjustment can be made within the plan of the constitution. The constitution definitely provides that the state cannot incur a debt over $500,000 and yet the state finds itself with a debt of interest-bearing warrants amounting to $200,000,000.

It is very important to reduce the interest rate on this $200,000,000 from 5 to 3 per cent, but it is much more important to protect the state from any further interest-bearing warrants. If both can be done The News is heartily in favor of it but it is in favor of putting the interest-bearing warrants in the form of a state debt without providing that this debt should not be increased.

Elizabethtown News

STRIPPINGS

FROM THE COW BARN
BY HANK
THE HIRED MAN

Sugar Creek
Extension Service

dow yew no enywnun that wants tew bi a sekund hand marrige lisenze cheep? i got wun.

i wuz reedin whar wimen likta be swept offa thar feet so thinks i tew myself—hank yew bin foolin arown with thet gal lizzie long enuf, so las saturday i went an got a lisenze, then i drov ouer en got lizzie en started fer town.

whi hank—sez she—aint we goin tew tha lawn soshul?

no—sezzi—were goin tew town.

but i wanna go tew tha soshul—sez she.

tha truble with yew—sezzi—iz thet yew dont no whut yew want now im goin tew run tha show fer wunice.

jist then we stopt at squire browns. hank—sez she ez i got owt—whut ar yew goin tew dew?

lizzie—sezzi—heres tha lisenze, im goin in en git squire brown en we iz gointa git married.

o k—sez lizzie—only im goin tew tha soshul.

she stopt on tha gas en away she went.

im lukn fer tha guy whut sed wimen shud be swept off thar fee.

HANK

Current Events in Review

By Edward W. Pickard

Guffey Coal Act Is Declared Invalid

SIX members of the Supreme court of the United States ruled that the Guffey act to control the bituminous coal industry is invalid and another of the New Deal experiments goes into the discard. This is the act which President Roosevelt urged congress to pass notwithstanding doubts of its constitutionality.

Sen. Guffey

The justices—Sutherland, Butler, Van Devanter, McCardeny, and Roberts—joined in the majority opinion which invalidated the whole act, Justices Cardozo, Brandeis, and Stone joined in a dissenting opinion in which they upheld the act.

Chief Justice Hughes held in a separate opinion that the act was constitutional with respect to the marketing provisions but unconstitutional with respect to the labor regulations.

The court in the majority opinion held that there is no authority in the Constitution for the control of the coal industry attempted in the Guffey act. The act was not valid either under the commerce clause or the welfare clause. Power was unlawfully delegated to set up a coal code similar to the codes of the invalidated NRA and the regulations establishing working hours of miners were a violation of the fifth amendment prohibiting the taking of property without the process of law. Mining, the court declared, is a local industry, the state jurisdiction whereof the federal government has no authority to invade.

Congress provided that if one part of the act were held unconstitutional other parts should not be affected. But the majority declined to accept that arrangement, ruling that the price fixing provisions were inextricably interwoven with the labor regulations.

Senator Guffey, author of the act, declined to comment on the opinion, but it was said he was preparing a substitute measure.

John Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, said that "it is a sad commentary upon our form of government when every decision of the Supreme court seems designed to fatten capital and starve and destroy labor."

Tugwell's Housing Hit by Court Decision

THE resettlement administration headed by Rexford G. Tugwell was declared by the District of Columbia court of appeals to be "clearly unconstitutional delegation of power" in a case involving a model community project in Somerset county, New Jersey.

Going beyond the issue before them, the justices of the appeals court called the entire relief appropriations act of 1935 into question. The act was invalid and hence RA was invalid, according to the court. Legally, however, none of the rest of the act will be affected by the decision because the other multitudinous activities of the New Deal under the appropriation were not before the court.

Solicitor Gen. Stanley Reed said an appeal would be taken to the Supreme court at once.

Uncle Sam Stands by Nine Power Pact

NEWS that Japan was growing on a larger her force in North China led the State department in Washington to announce that the position of the United States is the same as that outlined last December by Secretary Hull affirming its support of the nine power pact that guarantees China's territorial integrity. At that time Mr. Hull said this country has a binding faith in the fundamental principles of its traditional policy. This government adheres to the provisions of the treaties to which it is a party and continues to respect respect by all nations for the provisions of treaties solemnly entered into for the purpose of facilitating and regulating, to reciprocal and common advantage.

At the State department it was said that the reaffirmation of support of the nine power pact does not mean that the administration will abandon its policy of decline to take the initiative in any attempt to curb Japan for violations of the pact. This was attempted by Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state in the Hoover administration, with the gain of nothing but Japanese ill will.

Japanese military strength in North China south of the Great Wall is now said to be fully 15,000 men. There are about 80,000 more in Manchukuo and still others in Inner Mongolia.

War Debts Will Be Defaulted Again

NEITHER Great Britain nor France has any intention of paying the installments on the American war debt due June 15. And almost certainly all the other debtor nations except Finland will follow the example of the two big ones and again default. British Foreign Minister Eden talked about the debts with Leon Blum, who probably will be premier of France soon, but there was no indication that either one was planning to make a payment. Blum told the American club in Paris he hoped the war debt "misunderstanding" might be cleared up, but he was just trying to be pleasant to the people of both America and France without spending any money.

Of course the debtor nations would like to have the issue cleared up, for as long as they are in default they are subject to the restrictions of the Johnson act which makes it unlawful for any person in the United States to purchase or sell the bonds, securities or other obligations of any foreign government or to make any loans to such a government while that government is in default in payment of its obligations to the United States.

President of Bolivia Is Compelled to Resign

JOSE LUIS TELLO SORZANO was forced to resign the presidency of Bolivia by a junta of army officers and Socialists who staged a bloodless coup d'etat in La Paz. Col. German Busch, acting chief of the general army staff, leader of the coup, will be at the head of the government until Col. David Toro, hero of the war with Paraguay, returns from the Chaco, when Toro will be installed as president.

The immediate objective of the new administration was complete settlement of a general strike which the officers asserted was impeding the country's economic stability. The labor federation quickly suspended the strike movement, expressing solidarity with the army Socialists coup.

Italy Releases Alleged Leader in King's Killing

DR. ANTONIO FAVELLIC, alleged leader of the Italian Christian fascist movement, and accused assassin of the "martyr" King Alexander of Yugoslavia in Marseille, has been set free by the Italian authorities. Released with him was his lieutenant, Eugene Cavallotti. The two were arrested at Turin in October, 1934, soon after the murder of Alexander, but the French authorities who were working on the case were never permitted to question them and an Italian tribunal released the request of the French government for their extradition to France for trial.

Dr. Favellie

General Is the New Premier of Poland

POLAND feels that another European war is more than likely to break out soon, and she intends to be ready to take part in the conflict. A new government has been installed with Gen. Felicjan Slawoj-Skladkowski as premier and minister of the interior. The general took the oath of office wearing his uniform, which was taken as symbolic of the government's program. Poland will be adequately armed. Opposition leaders are warned that they will be prosecuted, as they were by Pilsudski after 1930.

Borah Is Loser in the Ohio Primaries

SENATOR WILLIAM BORAH looked heavily on success in the Ohio Presidential preference primary, but the result of that state turned him down decisively in favor of their "favorite son," Robert A. Taft, son of the late President Taft. Of the 52 delegates to the Cleveland convention, Borah captured only five, the others, including the delegates at large, being Taft men. The winning delegation will be virtually unopposed, because it will vote for Taft only on the first ballot. Mr. Borah did not take this defeat easily. He gave out a statement in Washington accusing the Republican organization leaders of manipulating the votes of colored citizens against him by promising the passage of federal anti-lynching legislation which he has opposed as unconstitutional.

War Debts Will Be Defaulted Again

NEITHER Great Britain nor France has any intention of paying the installments on the American war debt due June 15. And almost certainly all the other debtor nations except Finland will follow the example of the two big ones and again default. British Foreign Minister Eden talked about the debts with Leon Blum, who prob-

Senator Borah

Ohio Democrats polled about 500,000 votes in the primary, nearly 500,000 more than the Republicans, and they expressed their preference for Mr. Roosevelt over Col. Henry Breckinridge to the tune of 16 to 1. They also renominated Gov. Martin L. Davey, who will be opposed by John W. Dricker, Republican, in November.

About twenty of Pennsylvania's delegation to the Republican convention were pledged to support the popular choice of the state, which turned out to be Mr. Borah, no other name being officially entered at the April 28 primary. The delegation, which is unopposed, has now voted that the members must keep their pledge on the first ballot or run if it becomes manifestly impossible for their choice to win. This action was taken on motion of former Senator David A. Reed.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D.,
Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago,
© Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for May 31

THE LAST SUPPER

LESSON TEXT—Luke 22:7-23.
GOLDEN TEXT—This do in remembrance of me—Luke 22:19.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Supper Jesus Gave His Friends.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Lord's Supper.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What the Lord's Supper Means to Me.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What the Lord's Supper Means to Jesus.

The last meal that Jesus ate with his disciples was the Passover, the memorial of the national deliverance which pointed to the supreme deliverance to be effected by Christ on the cross of Calvary. In connection with this Passover, the feast of the new covenant was instituted. This feast also has a double import. It looks backward to the great deliverance wrought through Christ's atoning death, and forward to the even greater deliverance which He shall accomplish at His second coming (1 Cor. 11:26).

1. The Last Passover (vv. 7-13).
a. As the time had arrived for the killing of the Passover, Jesus directed Peter and John to make ready for it (v. 8).

b. The disciples inquired (v. 9) where they should prepare the Passover. Doubtless, they were eager to be of service to their Master and Lord.

c. Jesus gave strange directions (vv. 10-12), that they should go into the city, where they would find a man bearing a pitcher of water. The custom was for women to carry the water. This unusual occurrence would make it easier for them to recognize the man of whom they would ask, "Where is the guest chamber where I shall eat the Passover with my disciples?"

d. The disciples gave unquestioning obedience (v. 13), not permitting the unusual instructions to raise the question of sanity or reasonableness. Jesus, because he was omniscient, knew just how the matter would turn out, and the disciples found it even so.

2. The Passover eaten (vv. 14-18).
a. The historic group around that table (v. 14) was composed of Jesus and the Twelve, the apostles.

b. Jesus' words to the disciples (vv. 15-18).

(1) "I have desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer" (v. 15). He desired to show them the meaning of the passion through which he was to go. He also craved their human sympathy as he passed through this terrible ordeal.

(2) "I will not any more eat thereof until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God" (v. 16). His death was the antitypical fulfillment of the Passover meal. He declared that this would be the last time that they could share together this sacred ordinance before the completion of his mediatorial work.

(3) "Take this cup and divide it among yourselves" (vv. 17, 18). The token of the cup the disciples were partaking of the shed blood. This cup should be distinguished from the cup of the feast of the new covenant.

3. The Feast of the New Covenant (vv. 19, 20).

This feast took place at the close of the paschal supper.

1. The bread a symbol of Christ's body (v. 19). As bread nourishes and strengthens our bodies, so Christ is food to our spiritual nature. Unless the body receives nourishment, it decays. Unless our souls feed upon Christ, we shall perish. Christ's giving the physical bread to his disciples signified the giving of himself to them.

2. The cup a symbol of Christ's blood (v. 20). He said, "This cup is the new testament in my blood which was shed for you," indicating that each one must personally accept the atonement made by the shedding of his blood.

3. The Treachery of Judas (vv. 21-23).

1. The time of his manifestation (v. 21). It was while they were eating the last Passover that Jesus made announcement of the betrayal. Perhaps Jesus was in this manner offering Judas an opportunity at this last moment to repent.

2. The betrayal was by the deliberate counsel of God (v. 22, cf. Acts 2:23). Nothing takes place by chance. Even the sinful acts of wicked men come within the permissive providence of God. This does not, however, lessen the guilt of sinners, for Jesus said, "Woe unto the man by whom he is betrayed."

3. The sorrowful question (v. 23). That the disciples were not suspicious of one another is evident from the personal nature of the question they asked, "Lord, is it I?" (Matt. 26:22). We may each believe ask if he is in any way betraying his Savior and Lord.

True Happiness

Genuine happiness is the delicate perfume of a holy life. The sanctified soul exhales happiness as the flowers cast sweet odors. Heaven is a tropical garden of conscious spirits and its atmosphere is laden with happiness as the normal product of their purity.—D. C. Knowles.

A Purpose in Life

Have a purpose in life, and having it, throw into your work such strength of mind and muscle as God has given you.

Llandudno, "Atlantic City" of Wales, Now Is Tourist Magnet

Has Become One of Most Popular Sea Resorts of Britain.

American tourists who visit the British Isles this summer may be drawn to Llandudno beach, which has been called the "Atlantic City of the British Isles."

On the sand hills of Llandudno beach "Lewis Carroll," an Oxford mathematician whose real name was Dr. Charles L. Dodgson, once strolled with the children of his host, Dean Liddell. Recently a white marble marker was erected at the famous Welsh resort to commemorate the walks, and the literary classic, "Alice in Wonderland," they inspired.

"Although Llandudno may still sound quite foreign to most Americans, it is one of the chief seaside resorts of the British Isles," says the National Geographic society. "Situated on the north coast of Wales, facing the Irish sea, it may be easily reached by thousands of summer visitors from Liverpool, Manchester, and the English Midlands."

Beach Is Crescent-Shaped.
"The town itself is built around a vast semicircle of firm, sandy beach, with the ends of the crescent tipped with two towering masses of rock, the Great Orme's head and the Little Orme. Neither Nee, nor Beauville, nor Biarritz, nor Scheveningen, nor any of the much-courted middle-European bathing resorts on the shores of Hungary's Lake Balaton, has a situation comparable to this magnificent watering place."

"And the Welsh people have made excellent use of the opportunities which nature presented. A concrete 'boardwalk' wider than New York's Broadway follows the graceful curve of the beach for more than a mile and a half; countless bathhouses on wheels follow the tide back and forth, being drawn up and down the sands by horses; droves of donkeys are provided for the children's rides when they tire of dizzing in the sand; a pier jutting out into the bay for half a mile is the scene of daily concerts and dances, while along its full length are booths of fortune tellers, catch-penny vendors, and other amusements which attract those who delight in such diversions while on holiday."

"But it is the incomparable Marine drive, chiseled out of the solid rock of Great Orme's Head, winding between sea and sky, midway along the precipitous cliff, which brings distinction to Llandudno over all other resorts. No similar stretch of the Corniche drive along the Riviera can excel it in grandeur."

"There are many, many spots which lure the visitor: Happy Valley, nestling in a hollow of the Great Orme, presented to the town by Lord Mostyn as a memorial of the Queen Victoria Jubilee; the Church of Our Saviour, in whose grounds Lewis Carroll used to romp with his youthful friend Alice, the daughter of Dean Liddell, whose residence was nearby; and St. Tudno's church, a medieval structure occupying the site of the cell of St. Tudno, a hermit of the Seventh century who gave his name to Llandudno (than meaning church)."

Persian Kitten Is Easy to Do in Cross Stitch

How would you like to find this cute Persian kitten curled up in your favorite chair, or in a pretty frame above your bed? Embroider a pillow or picture with her soft likeness, as you can do so easily in cross stitch, and make her adoption complete. Use wool, silk or cotton floss, though angora yarn makes the most realistic likeness. You'll have doing this needlework in your spare time, and find the crosses an easy 2 to the inch.

Pattern 1148 comes to you with a transfer pattern of a kitten 11 1/2 by 13 1/2 inches; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches needed; color chart and key.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) to The Sewing Circle, Needlecraft Dept., 52 Eighth Ave., New York, N. Y.

CALLUSES
Don't experiment! This is the way to instant relief from pain and quick, safe, easy removal of your calluses. Sold everywhere.

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads

Hit—or Miss
Better three hours too soon than a minute too late.

alotabs
BILIOUSNESS

BOYS AND GIRLS...CASH
...for your spare time, distributing coupons
Easy work, pleasant and profitable. Send your name and address on a post card today for our free and interesting money-making offer. No obligation.

MACMILLAN SALES AGENCY
Box 96
Columbus, O.

DAHLIAS * ROOTS * $2.00
Your choice of the following: Oscar Kharzgam, Heart of 30 Winkles, Red of Gold, Elm Tree, Eleanor Radel, Prince of Persia, Josephine G. White, Wonder Winkles, King Ruby Royal, Cameo Bright, Kathleen Norris, Jersey Daisy, Indian Moon, Red Jersey, Jersey Beauty or King of Blacks or the Collection for $4.00.

FRANK W. BENTZSCHER
Linwood Nurseries
Send for Our Great Plant List of Over 100 Varieties. Include Postage.

Foreign Words and Phrases

Ab uno disce omnes. (L.) From one learn all.
Anno necatis suae. (L.) In the year of his (or her) age.
Caput mortuum. (L.) A worth less residue.
De trop. (F.) Too much; too many; out of place; not wanted.
Ecce signum. (L.) Behold the sign! Here is the proof.
Fata obstant. (L.) The Fates oppose.
Honi soit qui mal y pense. (F.) Evil be to him who evil thinks. (Motto of Great Britain.)
Lex non scripta. (L.) Unwritten law; the common law.
Inter se. (L.) Between (or among) themselves.
Mal a propos. (F.) Ill-timed; unsuitable.

JOE E. BROWN
IN "THAT'S THE MAN!"

GEE, JOE! I'VE WORKED UP TO BEING LIEUTENANT IN YOUR CLUB. HOW CAN I BE A CAPTAIN? TELL ME, PLEASE, I'VE GOT A LOT OF GRAPE-NUITS FLAKES!

WELL, JOHNNY, THAT'S A GOOD START. NOW ALL YOU NEED IS A CHANCE TO PROVE YOURSELF. THE MAN I THINK YOU ARE WILL COME. SO LONG!

BANG! BANG! THAT'S SHOOTING! I HOPE JOHNNY'S ALL RIGHT!

BANK ROBBERS! GAME LITTLE LIEUTENANT! NAB 'EM, DID YOU GET A GOOD LOOK AT 'EM, SON?

I SAW 'EM. I'VE GOT TO GET TO BE A CAPTAIN AWAY, JOE.

OPEN LETTER—If you know who that fellow with glasses is, please write him and tell him to get out of my club. I'm not interested in his kind of fellows. Yours truly, JOE E. BROWN.

YOU ALL KNOW HOW JOHNNY HELPED LAND THE WHOLE DILLON GANG BEHIND BARS. LIKE THOUSANDS OF OTHER BOYS AND GIRLS, HE'S A MEMBER OF MY JOE E. BROWN CLUB. AND CRAZY ABOUT GRAPE-NUITS FLAKES. JOHNNY'S NOT THE TYPE TO STAND STILL—SO HE BECAME A SERGEANT—LIEUTENANT—AND NOW HE'S GOING TO BE A CAPTAIN. I'M PROUD OF JOHNNY—OF ALL THE BOYS AND GIRLS IN MY CLUB AND I'M PROUD OF THESE GRAND GRAPE-NUITS FLAKES FOR MAKING THAT CLUB POSSIBLE. THANK YOU!

JOE E. BROWN ASKS BOYS AND GIRLS TO JOIN CLUB
Famous Comedian Offers 36 FREE Prizes!

Join JOE E. BROWN'S CLUB. You'll get the good-looking membership pin shown here and the Club Manual telling how to work up to higher ranks and how to get Joe's valuable prizes free. Send your name and address, and one red-and-blue Grape-Nuts Flakes package top to Grape-Nuts Flakes, Battle Creek, Michigan. Grape-Nuts Flakes will be good for you just as they are good for Johnny. With whole milk or cream, and fruit, they provide more varied nourishment than many a hearty meal. And are they good! (This offer expires December 31, 1936. Good only in U. S. A.)

Club Membership Ring—24-carat gold band, ring adjustable... its any finger. Members get ring FREE for 3 Grape-Nuts Flakes package tops.

Club Membership Pin—Here's the membership pin you get—gold finish, actual size shown. FREE for 1 Grape-Nuts Flakes package top. Send coupon below.

Joe E. Brown, Grape-Nuts Flakes, Battle Creek, Mich. WNU-4-36-36

I enclose... Grape-Nuts Flakes package tops. Please send me for the items checked below:
☐ Membership Pin and Club Manual. (Send 1 package top.)
☐ Membership Ring. (Send 3 package tops.)

Name _____
Street _____
City _____ State _____

A Post Cereal—made by General Foods

SEE JOE E. BROWN'S LATEST MOTION PICTURE—"SONS O' GUNS"—A WARNER BROTHERS PICTURE!

COPPER... town for...
by the dis...
dening, ra...
making...
old town...
Miller, wh...
half a cen...
He is hold...
molybdenum

Be...

BILLY M...

As smart...
THIS is...
himself...
which had...
trance to...
the bank...
course he...
when he...
into a gre...
clear to...
he must...
traps whe...
no danger...
At first... had thought...
laughing...
he could...
that Billy...

"It Will Serv...
Can Get Th...

was a piece...
back in that...
how that fish...
knew that the...
piece of fish...
would be so...
would be out...
The more I... wanted it. "I...
right if I can...
Billy. "Perha...
he is not so...
I wonder if I...
and the enra...
he stalled th...
that he would...
ish risk if he...
trap just to...
that trap his...
fish the m...
Billy strok...
fully. Of cou...
thing to do w...
while he was...
heered some...
and he grinn...
between the...
was a little...
to a little un...

ANN...
AN...
By R...

DEAR ANN...
THE MOVIE...
AS THE CO...
BE MARRIE...

Dear "Pha...
ALLOWED...
THING B...
MOVIES!

Molybdenum Brings Ghost Town to Life

COPPER CREEK, Ariz., historic mining settlement that has been a ghost town for years, has been brought to life by the discovery there of veins of molybdenum, rare metal that is used in steel making. Here is shown a part of the old town and, at the right, William N. Miller, who founded the town more than half a century ago and is there again. He is holding in his hand a specimen of molybdenum ore.

Bedtime Story for Children

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

BILLY MINK OUTWITS THE TRAPPER

As smart and clever as you are, a mink may smarter be by far. This is what Billy Mink said to himself as he uncovered the trap which had been set for him at the entrance to one of his favorite holes in the bank of the Laughing Brook. Of course he was thinking of the trapper when he said it. At first Billy flew into a great rage. It made him angry clear to the tip of his tail just to think he must now be always watching for traps where for so long there had been no danger.

At first, on discovering that trap, he had thought to go on at once up the Laughing Brook and see what more he could discover. But you remember that Billy was hungry and that there was a piece of perfectly delicious fish back in that hole. He knew now just how that fish happened to be there. He knew that that trapper had put that piece of fish in there hoping that Billy would be so eager to get in that he would be careless.

"It Will Serve That Trapper Right if I Can Get That Fish," Muttered Billy.

The more he smelled it, the more he wanted it. "It will serve that trapper right if I can get that fish," muttered Billy. "Perhaps it will teach him that he is not so smart as he thinks he is. I wonder if I can step over that trap."

Billy sat down and studied the trap and the entrance to the hole. The more he studied the more sure he became that he would be making a very foolish risk if he tried to step over the trap just to get a piece of fish. You see, that trap had been very cunningly placed. But the more he smelled that fish the more he wanted it.

Billy stroked his whiskers thoughtfully. Of course that didn't have anything to do with it, but just the same while he was stroking them he remembered something. His eyes snapped and he grinned. Way up on the bank between the roots of a certain tree was a little hole. It was the entrance to a little underground tunnel, and that tunnel led right down to the very hole in front of which the trap was set. It really was a sort of back door.

Billy turned and in a flash had scrambled up the bank. With his keen little nose he made sure that there was no scent of the trapper up there. He felt sure that the trapper had not found that little hole between the roots of that certain tree. But though he was sure of this, he took no chances. As he approached that hole he took the greatest care to make sure that no trap was in there.

There was none. Once inside the hole, Billy ran along that little tunnel, ducking to himself. He knew that there was no danger. He could get that fish. He did get it. He got it and ate it right there. Then he turned and ran out the way he had entered. Somehow that fish had tasted the best of any fish he had ever eaten. It was because he had outwitted the trapper.

© T. W. Burgess—WNU Service.

TRY THIS TRICK

By PONJAY HARRAH

Copyright by Public Ledger, Inc.

X-RAY VISION

TO DEMONSTRATE his ability at X-ray vision, the magician takes a pack of cards from his case. He lays them on the table and asks some one to insert a card from the pack. The card must be put in face down.

Picking up the case, the magician holds it to his forehead and promptly names the value of the card. He may repeat the trick if he desires.

Be careful. In performing this trick, to specify that the card must be put in the case while the latter is on the table. Why? Because you have previously cut a small hole in the lower corner of the card case.

When you pick up the card case, you can see the index corner of the card within. That is why you are able to name it.

WNU Service.

Mother's Cook Book

MARKETING FOR THE HOME

IT IS a heartening sight to visit the city markets and see the handsome, high-powered cars lined up at the curb and the lady of the house walking from stall to stall choosing the food for her family, along with the housewife of the poor man who must count every penny.

One of the hardest things for the average woman to do is to regulate her purchases to the amount she has to spend for food. It takes real self-control to pass by the attractive delicacies for the table and confine one's self to the urgent needs. Shopping and marketing are fine things to develop self-control.

In too many households the marketing problem is left to haphazard buying or the last minute order, and so it is either a feast or a famine to which the family look forward.

The tender cuts of meat do not contain any more nourishment and they lack the extracts which are found in the more active muscles and so they lack the flavor. Cheaper cuts which are used for meat are often thrown away because of the idea that they have lost their food value. The fact is all the food value is still there, the lack is in the flavor or extracts, which may be supplied in various ways—adding flavorful vegetables,

"It's getting so now that you can't sneak down to the old swimming hole for a little dip in the raw," says modest Mitzie, "without having one of those nudist camp scouts trying to sign you up."

© Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.

meat, sauces and condiments, thus making palatable and nourishing dishes from meat left from broths.

When we learn that marketing is a household science which needs study and observation and that extravagant buying, however full the purse, is never to be indulged, we are in a fair way to improve in that part of household management.

We are told that those who have made a study of family needs that before a pound of meat is bought a quart of milk should supply the daily need of every child in the family. Milk may be used as a drink, as a main dish, in puddings, sauces, with cereals for breakfast and supper.

© Western Newspaper Union.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

A GOOD SOURCE TO EXCUSE A BAD ACT

A WOMAN in Port Monmouth, N. J., quoted God and the Bible as the justification for keeping her two boys out of school.

Defying the truant officer, she claimed to have kept her boys at home because some of the subjects taught in the public schools are evil. With the aid of a book published in 1848 she herself taught them the three R's, which filled her requirements for her children.

One of the shrewd subjects taught in the schools is drawing, this woman says. To prove it, she quotes from the Bible: "Thou shalt not make unto thyself any graven image."

And because "the pages of history are splattered with blood and God forbids taking human life," history also is an evil subject and the teaching of it justifies her in keeping her boys out of school.

One's mental comment, of course, is

Costumes for the "Dust Bowl"

THESE three young ladies of Pueblo, Colo., are wearing three variations of the masks now used by farmers who have to be out in the open during the "black blizzards" which have swept over parts of Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas during the past two years.

THE ARISTOCRACY

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THESE are the aristocracy: The man who makes my shoes for me.

My clothes, the roof above my head, The very comfort of my bed, The food my body nourisheth— Yes, even for my very breath Upon some other I depend, My noblest neighbor, nearest friend.

I never see a hand of grime, A brow of summer sweat, but I'm A bit ashamed no look of toil Have mine, of contact with the soil. My little greatness is less great, A thousand times, than his estate Who makes a habitable earth For many men of lesser worth.

I am entitled to my ease, My lighter task, by serving these Who serve mankind, for then we all Are workers, be we great or small. I thus become, the best I can, The equal of this other man To whom I look, who looks to me— Both then the aristocracy.

© Douglas Malloch—WNU Service.

Pleated Ruffles

Binche lace edges the pleated ruffles that form the sleeves and neckline effect on this prim little frock of black and white printed chiffon. The shantung straw hat is Schiaparelli's new one trimmed with colored "glass" flowers.

DADA KNOWS—

"Pop, what is exaltation?" "Last hymn."

© Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL

By Carter Field

FAMOUS WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT

Washington. — The Passamaquoddy tidal power and Florida ship canal projects have won a reprieve from the congressional death sentence. It was the first sign of presidential maneuvering to get the approval of congress for the two projects dumped on Capitol Hill's doorstep last January by the President, and treated so cavalierly by Mr. Roosevelt ever since.

Whether it is the real breath of life or a mere reprieve will depend upon the verdict of the two projects. The canal talk the resolution to death if they wish, unless all hope of adjournment is thrown to the winds. Presumably there is nothing the Republicans in the senate would rather talk about than Quoddy and the Florida canal. They know they are on safe ground— that the country regards both projects as a waste of public money—and that public reaction was so strong against them that even the overwhelmingly Democratic house and senate had to vote them down.

If the resolution just introduced by Senator Joseph T. Robinson is passed, there is very little doubt as to what will happen. It provides that a board of three engineers is to be appointed to study each project, and to report to the President on June 29 or before, this year. If they report the projects to be "justified," the President, under the resolution, would then have the approval of congress to allot ten million dollars for the Florida canal and nine million dollars for Quoddy out of work relief funds.

All the members of the board are to be engineers who have not in any way been connected with either project. They would be appointed by the President and receive $30 a day plus expenses for each day of service.

Causes Surprise

Critics of the project were surprised at the resolution, though it has been introduced at the White House that some new plan would be worked out for Quoddy. There had been no such hint about the Florida canal.

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida has been watering the White House as well as the senate, after building with his ears in behalf of the canal, while Governor Louis J. Brann has been talking grumble to the President and James A. Farley about what would happen in Maine's September election if Quoddy were simply dropped overboard by the administration.

Democratic senators of New England were inclined to think that the move to revive both projects was just a political gesture, aimed at pleasing Fletcher and getting Brann in a good humor.

It was pointed out, however, that the Maine voters were rather peaceful, and that if the resolution were allowed to pass because not enough White House steam was turned on they just might resent it.

Another possibility of course is that the engineers, if told by the President before he appoints them that they are not to worry about pleasing anybody, but still report their own convictions, may bring in an adverse report, thus agreeing with all the previous studies made of Quoddy. An adverse report would provide ample justification for not going ahead.

This view is held by some senators who have thought for some months now that the President had finally been convinced by Harold I. Ickes and others that Quoddy was a pure waste of money, and that Mr. Roosevelt's reference of the whole matter to congress had just been a way out. Especially they point out, as he did not ask any administrative support of the projects when they were under consideration.

Tax Lawyers Busy

Washington's long array of tax lawyers, the men who fight to keep taxpayers from being forced to pay what the bureau of internal revenue insists upon taking, almost regardless of the law and the precedent, have been booked almost solidly from now on, in many instances their services are to start with the passage of the present tax bill.

Incidentally they are advising clients to postpone any move toward reorganization. Numerous incidents where reorganizations, mergers or other forms of change in the corporate structure were desired have been put off until after the passage of the tax bill.

Dependence on the tax lawyers strikes some of these very lawyers as rather amusing at the moment. Two of the most successful told this correspondent that they could not make out the foggiest idea of what many of the provisions mean.

But at present no one has the slightest idea what the tax bill will be like when it becomes law. The senate is working on it. That's all anyone knows. How far they will go in making the meaning of any given section clear is another.

All of which piles on top of one of the most annoying problems business has to contend with—the attitude of the internal revenue legal department, headed by Robert H. Jackson.

It is best illustrated by a remark of Judge Morris A. Soper, of the Circuit Court of Appeals at Baltimore. A case was being heard where the complaining company said that the board of tax appeals paid no attention to the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States on certain questions. Another justice on the Circuit court commented on this statement in a brief—as filed by a Washington tax lawyer.

Ignore the Courts

"He—no," he began. "We know the board of tax appeals did not pay any attention to the rulings by this court, but we did not know it was also ignoring decisions of the Supreme court."

"Maybe," said Judge Soper, dryly, "they have been reading the Harvard Law Review."

Every lawyer in Washington knows that there is violent disagreement in policy between the lawyers of the Department of Justice and those of the bureau of internal revenue. As pointed out in a recent dispatch, Jackson's policy is to litigate, not to compromise.

One important case recently was decided against the government. Lawyers who had several different cases pending on all four sides so far as they could see, were frankly informed that the government would not appeal, but that it would not regard the case as a precedent.

Which amounted, as Washington tax lawyers see it, to a concession by the bureau of internal revenue that if they were to take the case in question up to the Supreme court the government will lose again. Nevertheless, despite this obvious belief on their part, they would not compromise existing cases of a similar nature. They insisted upon making every claimant fight in the courts.

This is true business for the tax lawyers. It makes big fees for them. For it is the big corporations that fight their cases through and do not have to surrender. All that hurts them is the expense.

But the little fellows who, precisely similar cases, who do not fear that the game justice the courts have to pay. The expense to them of litigating, fighting up through the courts when the government appeals, would be greater than the tax the bureau of internal revenue is seeking simply to force them to pay.

La Follette's Plan

The most amazing thing about the senate's fumbling around on the tax bill is that the one man who does in his heart comes closest to agreeing with all the Roosevelt doctrines, is the one who is fighting for a tax plan which probably would be the most disastrous to the New Deal in November.

This is Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin. His proposal, which is causing so much concern at the White House and among the brain trusters, is to boost income tax levies on individuals getting less than $50,000 a year all the way down the line, and to reduce the present exemptions so that millions of additional persons would be obliged to pay income taxes, and all those now paying a small income tax would have to pay more.

La Follette is for this proposal for two reasons. He wants the government to keep on taking in one-half revenue to be able to keep on with its social reform, farm relief, and other Progressive policies. He believes that this is the only way to bring in enough money. He knows, and so do practically all the senators—only many of them would not think of admitting it publicly—that the bill as passed by the house will not produce the expected revenue. And he knows also that if its rates were so boosted that it would, the result would be a rather long-drawn-out, but nevertheless effective killing of the goose that lays the golden egg.

Further, he knows that if this just idea is wrong—if the corporations by one device or another are able to weather the storm—will just be because they are able to work out some way or another to pass the tax on to the consumer anyhow.

The Alternative

Hence Senator La Follette is deadly serious when he says that congress will either accept his boosting in taxes on small incomes or be compelled eventually to tax food. Especially as La Follette knows also that the present measure, even if changed so as to actually produce the revenue the treasury says it must have, still falls very far short of balancing the budget. There must be a tremendous increase in taxes after election in order to have the government taking in as much money as it pays out.

Of course every other senator knows this, too, but most of them are concurring their remarks to other subjects. Certainly Senator La Follette is the only pro-New Deal senator who is even whispering about the need for greater revenue, and honestly looking about to determine from what sources it could be obtained.

Almost without exception the senators going along with the administration on the bill are simply doing a chore. They know the present structure will not raise the money needed. Many of them privately agree that the bill is up to do a great deal of harm. Many a senator who will vote for the measure is telling friends he is afraid it will result in steering the ordinary business cycle in the direction of more violent ups and downs, with better times and worse depressions, encouraging reckless spending in good years, and forcing devastating economies in bad years.

COPYRIGHT—WNU Service.

The Courier

Entered as second class matter, April 7, 1910, at the postoffice at West Liberty, Ky., under act of congress.

Subscription Price $1.50 a Year
Always in Advance

Advertising rate, 35c a column inch each insertion. Legal advertising, 50c a column inch each insertion.
Classified advertisements, 1c a word. Readers, 10c a line.

Late obituaries, cards of thanks, resolutions of respect, etc., 5c a line.

Published every Thursday by COURIER PUBLISHING COMPANY
F. S. BRONG Editor
ROSCO BRONG Business Manager

FARMERS' COLUMN

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

With 250 acres of land set to strawberries in Crittenden county, growers are looking forward to added incomes from small-fruit. Plants purchased thru the Eden Bureau Fruit Growers Association were set in March and April, and have made a good growth.

In line with Mrs. Evelyn Tobey's statement at district homemakers' club meetings that a woman could "stand anything if she felt certain that her hair looked all right," Pike county women have been studying the shampoo and hot oil and salt treatments.

Ernst Potter, a Warren county negro farmer, has bought a small tractor. He uses it on his 75-acre farm, and also does work for other farmers in the neighborhood, thereby helping to pay for it. Mr. Potter keeps a careful record of farm expenses.

Among accomplishments of Taylor county farmers the county agent listed the following: 25 Junior Farm Bureau members are keeping farm records; 50 percent of the lambs will be docked and castrated; 1,795 cattle were tested for Bang's disease in the past month; and wool growers have formed a marketing pool.

At the time gardens were planted, Hopkins county homemakers made canning and storage budgets. Included in their plans is the canning of one or two new vegetables, to give greater variety to the winter menu.

"4-H Leaves" is the name of a magazine issued for the first time last month by Fayette county 4-H club members. To be published quarterly, it contains news of project plans and individual members, etc. Milford Estill is editor-in-chief and Anna Mae Jones is the business manager.

Chandler To Address Boys and Girls

Governor A. B. Chandler is to address the 600 farm boys and girls assembled at the 16th annual reunion week at the university of Kentucky on June 8-13. He is to be the speaker at the morning convocation in the Memorial building on Thursday, June 11.

Other convocation speakers are President Frank L. McVey and Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the university of Kentucky and Victor K. Dodge, Lexington business man and authority on birds and wild animal life.

Pastors of Lexington churches will conduct the evening vesper services. George Campbell of Cincinnati again will direct the juniors in their song services, with Dave Roble at the piano.

It is expected that 100 counties will be represented in the canning, baking, and terracing demonstrations, the health contest, and the style revue.

Boys attending the convention will judge livestock and study crop production and other farm activities, while the girls will attend classes in homemaking, health, music, and other subjects of interest to women.

Featuring conservation of human and animal life and the soil, Junior week cooperating agencies this year include the U. S. department of agriculture, soil conservation service, Tennessee Valley Authority, the U. S. biological survey, the Courier-Journal, International Harvester Co., and other organizations and companies.

It often happens that the worst thing that can happen to a man is to have some one help him. Some men once they receive help appear unable to walk alone after that. They seem to lose their initiative and self reliance. The fellow who knows he has to do the job himself pitches in and gets it done.

Honest work brings sound sleep.

YOUR GOVERNMENT

by
DR. JOHN W. MANNING DIRECTOR
BUREAU OF GOVERNMENT RESEARCH

NO. 12 Old Age Assistance

Changing social and economic conditions have increased the number of dependent aged persons in the United States during the past several years. Improved medical and public health administration has had the effect of lengthening the span of life, while changes in the rate of population growth have emphasized the proportion of aged in the present population. The economic system favors young persons, and thus it is becoming more difficult for workers beyond the age of forty or fifty years to obtain employment. Depression conditions during the past few years have closed out many small businesses and thrown numbers of older people out of employment. These various factors have contributed to make the problem of dependent aged acute, and brought about a pressing need for old age security.

Dependence in old age is a hazard which faces every one. The man who reaches sixty-five can look forward in the average case to a life of approximately twelve more years. This is a long period of time during which normally there is little or no income from labor. To provide an income of only $25 per month from the age of sixty-five on, a man must have accumulated approximately $3,400 and a woman $3,600 upon reaching this age. The great majority of old persons in this country do not have accumulations of this amount. Of all the men and women over sixty-five, at least one-half are financially dependent upon others. The great majority of these are supported by children or relatives, but there are many aged persons who are dependent upon the public for support, and this number has increased greatly during depression years. There are at this time approximately one million men and women of sixty-five or over who are dependent upon the public for support. Of course, many of these have been taken care of temporarily through emergency unemployment relief. This type of relief, however, is not suited to the type of people who will remain dependent for long periods of time. Experience has demonstrated that the best way to provide for old people who are dependent upon the public for support is thru a system of old age assistance.

A HELL-HOLE

Pleading for the freeing of his county from the baneful liquor traffic, County Judge, F. C. Lacy, of Salersville, in last week's local paper uses the following words:

"On June 1st, the people of Magoffin county will decide by their vote, or failure to vote, whether or not they want whiskey and beer sold in the county. Not much has so far been said about the local option election, but the election has been called and will be held, and the people will be given the opportunity to express themselves one way or the other. If the county votes dry then no other. If the county votes dry then no other. If the county votes wet any precinct may thereafter vote on the liquor question.

"The people here in town are unquestionably opposed to a continuation of this business which is making a veritable hell-hole out of Salersville, and they will vote against it. Some have said that the country people will vote 'No' or in favor of liquor, if they vote at all, because it is being sold in town. But they forget that it is their boys who come to town and get drunk either on beer or whiskey and get arrested and put in jail; and that it will perhaps be their boy that will, while drunk, either kill someone or be killed.

"Anyway, it would be a mistake for the country people to take this attitude, because even if the county votes wet Salersville will turn right around and have a precinct vote on the question and vote whiskey and beer out of town. And then the legal beer and whiskey will be sold in the country districts. Let's all get together and vote the stuff entirely out of our county and make our county a safe place in which to live and a desirable place in which to bring up our children.

"MOTHERS—FATHERS here is your chance to do something for your boys and girls. Help them by getting behind the local option election and voting our whole county dry. If the county votes dry now then no further vote can be taken either by the county as a whole or in any precinct for four years.

"Let's rid ourselves entirely of this thing that is destroying and demoralizing our people."

Moral and Spiritual Welfare

President Herbert Hoover in his campaign speeches, both against Smith and Roosevelt, laid stress upon "the moral and spiritual welfare of the country." President Roosevelt also used the expression several times in his campaign addresses in 32. Ministers of the gospel, in their prayers for their country, ask God Almighty for the moral and spiritual welfare of the people.

There is nothing today more important for our country than an improvement in the moral and spiritual conditions of its citizens. There never has been a time we can recall when the moral standard of both men and women has sunk as low as it is today. There never has been a time in the history of the editor when there was less spirituality among the people. Immorality of all kinds is practically uncontrolled by society and by the church, and the lack of spirituality is observable not only in the vast multitudes who do not attend church but in a majority of those who do attend. Wordiness has taken the place of spirituality in the minds of most of the people and probably the loss of spirituality is responsible for the loss of morals.

Good people everywhere have been praying for the moral and spiritual welfare of our people. This country needs the prayers of the church for these things and it needs the example of every Christian to inspire it. The depression was not nearly as dangerous to the United States, nor is war as dangerous to the United States, as its moral and spiritual degeneracy. It caused the fall of Athens, it caused the fall of Rome, and it caused the French Revolution which lasted twenty years. It is a menace today to the perpetuity of American institutions, or even our government itself.

Elizabethtown News.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Rev. M. B. Whit of Wrigley and Roscoe Brong of West Liberty will conduct memorial services on Sunday, May 31, at 10:30 a. m., at the Roberson cemetery, on the headwaters of Pleasant Run, about 1½ miles north of Yocum. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Sound Farming Practices

Farmers who have made extensive use of soil-conserving crops and soil-building practices in their farming operations now have the opportunity to earn payments for positive performance, under the new agricultural conservation program, without materially changing their system of farming. In the national interest, the program recognizes the value of sound farming practices, which conserve the soil and improve its fertility.

Farmers who already have been devoting a large percentage of their land to soil-conserving crops as a regular practice will find greater opportunity to qualify for Class I payments for soil-building practice thru such farming practices as increasing acreage of legumes, living and pasture improvement.

On farms where the productivity of land is equal to the average productivity for the United States, the acre rate of payment for crops in the general soil-depleting base is $10. In areas where cotton and tobacco are principally grown, the yield of crops in the general soil-depleting base tends to be less than the United States average, thus tending to give a rate of payment below the United States average.

The rates per acre of Class I, or soil-conserving payments for land diverted from tobacco and cotton to soil-conserving crops, is the normal yield per acre for the farm times 5 cents a pound in the case of barley, and 3½ cents a pound in the case of air-cured and dark air-cured tobacco, and 5 cents a pound in the case of cotton.

Class I or soil-conserving payments are available for increasing the acreage of soil-conserving crops on land formerly used for the production of soil-depleting crops. Class II or soil-building payments are available for 1936 seedlings of certain specified crops and for other approved soil-building practices on cropland or pasture. It is possible for farmers to qualify for soil-conserving payments without qualifying for soil-building payments, and, in many instances, to qualify both for soil-conserving and soil-building payments, often by the use of the same acreage. Soil-building payments will be made at rates and for practices recommended by the state agricultural conservation committee and approved by the secretary of agriculture. The number of dollars in Class II payments cannot exceed the number of acres of cropland on the farm in soil-conserving crops in 1936.

While there is an established limit on the number of acres for which any farmer can receive payment for shifting from soil-depleting to soil-conserving crops, a farmer may shift as many more acres as he pleases, to suit his own plans, without any deduction from his payment.

If the acreage on the farm in 1936 devoted to cotton and tobacco, or all other soil-depleting crops is increased above the base, such increases will be balanced against any shifts which are made from the soil-depleting base, by making appropriate deductions from any other payments which may be due to the farm.

T.W.C. VISITORS' DAY

Cannel City, Ky.—The Training Work Center located at Cannel City had an all day opening for visitors Wednesday, May 13. This was the first time they had been permitted to have an open house and they feel like it has helped them greatly, not only the ones who are employed, but the outsiders also. They can take more interest in them as workers as they see them come and go each day. They can realize more clearly that they are really doing some good.

There was a nice display of finished garments including: a baby layette, a small boy's outfit, small girl's outfit, outfit for women, and outfit for men. Some of the materials used were dyed ticking, blue chambray, prints of different designs, white outing, and white muslin.

There were six women working and all the women had new smocks made from white, muslin which helped to brighten up the room. The workroom was very clean and neat; there were white curtains for the windows and machine pads and pockets to match. There were also curtains of gay print for the cutting tables.

They have five new Singer sewing machines of which they seem to be very proud, and they surely enjoy sewing on them, from the looks of the garments they have been making.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Rev. Harlan Murphy will conduct memorial services at Murphy Fork Cemetery at 10:30 a. m., and at Old Grassy Cemetery at 2:30 p. m., on Sunday, May 31. Services at these places are always well attended.

The Courier goes to Grade A homes

OLDEST HOUSE IN COUNTY

The oldest house in Morgan county and perhaps in eastern Kentucky, is a part of the building in which the widow of the late John Williams lives on Williams Creek near the Elamton postoffice.

This house, the portion in the rear of the present building, was built by old "Squire" John Williams in the year 1816, according to tradition. The large chimney is characteristic of the chimneys built in those early days.

"Squire" John Williams was the son of Elder Daniel Williams, pioneer and first settler in West Liberty, who built a log cabin and cleared a farm there in the year 1804.

Squire John, was one of the first Justices of the Peace of Morgan county. His commission was signed by John Adair, then Governor of Kentucky. The first county court was held at the home of Richard Wells on the banks of the Licking river, at which John Williams was present.

It would seem that John settled on the Williams Creek fork of the Elk fork, and that his descendants have lived there ever since. He is buried near the old home place.

DONOLD ELBERT WEBB.

Mrs. Earl Price had a telegram from Wheeling Sunday announcing the sad news of the death of her brother's wife, Mrs. George Schwen-der.

L. L. WILLIAMS

AGENT FOR
Singer Sewing Machines
REPAIRS, PARTS, AND SUPPLIES

$100.00 CASH PRIZE!!! Coupon with every Kodak Film. Developed and 8 DeLuxe Prints and professional enlargement oil painted by artists all for only 25c. Mail to: Janesville Film Service, Janesville, Wisconsin. Mail this ad with roll for individual attention. P67

JAPANESE OIL

Made in U. S. A.
FOR HAIR AND SCALP
Different from Ordinary Hair Tonics
IT'S A SCALP MEDICINE!
40c & 51c. FEEL IT WORK! At All Druggists
Write for FREE Booklet "The Truth About The Hair." National Remedy Co., New York

"Essolube"
MOTOR OIL gives you more for your money

Quarter Quart

STANDARD OIL COMPANY
INCORPORATED IN KENTUCKY

$5 Gillette Razor Sets $6

FREE!

TO COURIER SUBSCRIBERS IN
MORGAN AND ADJOINING COUNTIES

We have a limited number of Gillette New De Luxe Razor sets, each consisting of gold plated razor and ten genuine Gillette blades in your choice of leather covered or gold plated box. This razor will last as long as you live to enjoy a clean and easy shave. Thousands have been sold at the regular retail price of $5 in the leather covered box, $6 in the gold plated box.

While Our Supply Lasts

we will give absolutely free one $5 razor set with TWO yearly Courier subscriptions in Morgan or adjoining counties, or one $6 set absolutely free with THREE yearly subscriptions at $1.50 a year.

Subscriptions may be new or renewal, for yourself or anyone else in Morgan or adjoining counties, and you must call at our office to get your razor. Do not ask us to mail it to you unless you send 25 cents extra for the additional expense to us.

This offer is good only in Morgan county, Ky., and adjoining counties. Subscriptions outside of these counties will not apply on this premium offer.

This offer expires as soon as our present supply of razor sets is exhausted. Get yours while we have time to give away.

Courier Publishing Co.

West Liberty - - - - - Kentucky

G. B. Co...
Jown Mond...

William...
Monday...

Dr. W... visited her...

Little An...
lously ill th...

County C... drew quite a...
to town.

R. H. Hay...
business vis...
Monday.

Elder Mar... visited relat...
Tuesday.

Mrs. W. I...
Miss Ethel M...
ing yesterday.

Judge G. W... of Grayson v...
business Mo...

C. C. Bl...
Lexington on...
the Cadde sw...

Everything...
Morgan cou...
Courier floo...

There (and...
person who p...
ought to be a...

We still hav...
safety razor...
Courier reade...

Wrigley rep...
day school e...
and Blaze even...

Wanted: A...
and to take e...

Big Sale st...
Watch for circ...
for yourself.

The sheriff...
posed of near...
estate at public...
claims on Mon...

Misses Josep...
Guire, Mrs. S...
Sherman Willi...
Mt. Sterling, W...

J. D. Lykins...
where ne resie...
also the one o...
to a new coat...

Mr. and Mrs...
Miss Zelphia C... cinatti, Ohio...
an extensive lo...

Miss Hazel...
Williams, Jack...
shine Cornick...
Sunday aftern...
Zelphia Graham

The biggest...
farmer at the...
conservation. W...
our other troub...
our soil to wast...
sver for it som...

John F. Wells... proving, but g...
daughter, Mrs. W... town and he...
bedside. His son...
Ohio arrived yes...

Government...
Lindburg ranso... counted for all...
fact that it all...
man's hands con...
that he had no...

Twenty million... in China. As a...
Christian nation... accepted fact in...
is only the profe...
tions who make...
feeding their hu...

Miss Freda B... home with Mis...
Florence McGuir... year, after her...
and aunt, Mr. an...
at Wrigley, will...
der of her vaca...
her parents, Mr...
Brown.

Mrs. Roscoe Br...
Mrs. F. A. Byars...
Misses Annie Al...
Brong motored to... day and attende...
sion of the thir...
of the Women's...
There was a goo...
very interesting...
society served a d...

had a telegram Sunday announcing the death of her father, George Schwen-

LLIANS

FOR gMachines
AND SUPPLIES

PRIZE!!! Coupon
Film. Developed prints and professionally painted by only 25c. Mail to Service, Janesville, Wis. This ad with attention. P67

SE OIL

AND SCALP
Hair Tonic
P. MEDICINE!
ARK! All Druggists
let "The Truth About
Tandy Co. New York

ANY

ets $6

!

N
ITIES

New De ld plated our choice his razor clean and the regular ox, $6 in asts

set with organ or etely free
0 a year.

for your-counties, razor. Do 25 cents

nty, Ky., outside of um offer.

nt supply
we have

Co.

Kentucky

Personal

G. B. Cox of Woodsbend was in town Monday.

Williams Dept. Store starts big sale Monday. Watch for circular.—Adv.

Dr. W. J. Oakley of Bardstovm visited here with his father Tuesday.

Little Anita Gullett has been seriously ill this week, but is improving.

County Court day on Monday drew quite a number of farm people to town.

R. H. Hayes of Morehead was a business visitor in West Liberty Monday.

Elder Marcus Egelston of Mariba visited relatives and friends in town Tuesday.

Mrs. W. P. Elam and daughter, Miss Ethel Marie, went to Mt. Sterling yesterday.

Judge G. W. E. Woodford and son of Grayson were here looking after business Monday.

C. C. Blair and family went to Lexington on Tuesday and attended the Catholic meeting.

Everything is not right in that Morgan county home where the Courier does not go.

There can't be much done for a person who is proud of the thing he ought to be ashamed of.

We still have a limited number of safety razor sets to give away to Courier readers. See page 4.

Wrigley reports a fine large Sunday school every Sunday morning and Blue every Sunday afternoon.

Wanted: A girl to do housework and to take care of two children. Mrs. J. D. MOORE

Big Sale starts Monday, June 1. Watch for circular or come in and see for yourself. Williams Dept. Store, (ad)

The sheriff and his deputies disposed of nearly 200 pieces of real estate at public auction to satisfy tax claims on Monday.

Misses Josephine and Florene McGuire, Mrs. S. D. Gullett and Mrs. Sherman Williams had business in Mt. Sterling, Saturday.

J. D. Lykins just had his residence where he resides on Court St. and also the one on North Main treated to a new coat of paint.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Williams and Miss Zephia Graham were in Cincinnati, Ohio, Saturday, purchasing an extensive lot of wearing apparel.

Miss Hazel Kenyon, Alta Maye Williams, Jack Huntsey, and Sunshine Carmick, of Paintsville, were Sunday afternoon guests of Miss Zephia Graham.

The biggest problem before the farmer at the present time is soil conservation. We may correct all of our other troubles but if we permit our soil to waste away we must answer for it some day.

John F. Wells at Malone is not improving, but gradually failing. His daughter, Mrs. W. J. Oakley of Bardstovm and her husband are at the bedside. His son Kiser and wife of Ohio arrived yesterday.

Government agents tracing the Lindburg ransom money have accounted for all of it except $50. The fact that it all passed thru Hamptman's hands convinces federal agents that he had no accomplices.

Twenty million people are starving in China. As a matter of fact in non-Christian nations starvation is an accepted fact in times of famine. It is only the professedly Christian nations who make any pretense of feeding the hungry.

Miss Freda Brown, who had her home with Misses Josephine and Florene McGuire during the school year, after her visit with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brown at Wrigley, will spend the remainder of her vacation at Blaze with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Brown.

Mrs. Rosco Brong, Mrs. F. S. Brong, Mrs. F. A. Byars, Mrs. J. C. Nickell, Misses Annie Allen and Margaret M. Brong motored to Paintsville Tuesday and attended the afternoon session of the third quarterly meeting of the Women's Missionary Union. There was a good attendance and a very interesting program. The home society served a delicious lunch.

(Courtesy of The Christian Science Monitor)

Monday, June 1, opens Big Sale at Williams Dept. Store.—Adv.

There was a large attendance at the church and baptismal services Sunday morning at Blaze.

Ask for our special prices in Big Sale starting Monday, June 1. Don't miss it. Williams Dept. Store.—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Blair, Mrs. Louisa McClain, Miss Felma Black, Boyd Blair and family visited Sunday afternoon with their uncle, Grant Lewis at Blaze, who remains about the same. The following ministers were there and held services both in the afternoon and evening: Revs. Haney, Graham, Marion Collins and Hiram Collins.

A QUIET WEDDING

Miss Anna Preston Wilson of Hele-chawa and Edward Clay Keeton of this place drove to Lexington, Saturday, May 10th and were married by Dr. T. C. Ecton, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church. Dr. and Mrs. Gullett were witnesses to the occasion.

The bride is a student in the Eastern State Teacher's College at Richmond.

The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Keeton. He is a graduate of Morgan County high school and has two or three years of college. He is employed by the Licking Valley Grocery Co.

We wish the happy couple a prosperous and useful career.

SCHOOL OF INSPECTION

The Eastern Star of West Liberty, Mrs. Lula Bell Elam, Worthy Matron, held their school of inspection Friday evening.

The officers entertained the guests at the Cole Hotel and enjoyed a delicious banquet.

There was a good attendance at the hall and the officers did good work. Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Templeton, Grand Associate Matron, Mrs. Elsie Sebastian and other visitors were present and gave interesting talks. Mrs. Stella Lewis, Mrs. Maud Perry and W. G. Ratliff presented the gifts.

The hospitality committee served delicious frozen salad, coffee and wafers.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. W. G. Ratliff prepared a delicious chicken dinner Sunday. When everything was nicely arranged and a beautiful angelfood cake placed at the head of the table, she gently pressed a button and called Mr. Ratliff to the dining room. As he entered the following guests surrounded the table: Dr. and Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Murray's mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Trayner at little daughter, Marieta Ann, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Gullett and daughter, Anita, Mr. and Mrs. Yandall Wrayner.

Mr. Ratliff was completely surprised. He finally rallied and remembered that it was his thirty-sixth birthday. His officious nerve reminded him that a perfectly good dinner demanded attention. Billy helped him overcome his embarrassment so that he had the presence of mind to seat his guests.

Mr. Ratliff says he never takes offense at anything Edna does, but always gives her full sway in such matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Davis of Sandy Hook visited their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Blair and family Sunday.

Mrs. Lauren Mathis and little daughter of Carlisle visited last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Turner.

CROCKETT

Floyd Arnett and J. Blaine Nickell of West Liberty were here on business last Saturday.

J. D. Fannin visited his daughter, Mrs. F. M. Wheeler at Elk Fork last Saturday and Sunday.

T. P. Conley who has been confined to his bed for six weeks is slowly improving.

Eulas Conley has gone to Franklin Furnace, Ohio, and is preparing to move there.

Eta Conley is visiting Roscoe Hutchinson and family at Morehead for a few days.

Arville Oliver of Lick Branch visited his father, J. W. Oliver last Saturday night.

Autie Conley and wife visited D. B. Ison at Moon last Saturday and Sunday.

Peter Conley went to Smith Creek last Saturday.

J. W. Fannin and wife attended the meeting at Relief last Sunday.

MOUNTAIN BOY

OPHIR

Mrs. Ida Burchett Rowland died at her home here Thursday, April 16 at the age of 21 years, 5 months, 5 days. She had been confined to her bed about a week when the bright angles came and took her home. She leaves to mourn: her husband, Grover Burchett, nine children, Buford, Homer, Linza, Gilla, Ruie, Edna, Sallie, Grace and Ida Mae; her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Rowland; three sisters, Alice and Linnie Rowland at home and Mrs. Tervie Pennington of this place; four brothers, Caved and Claude at home, Dewey of Owensboro, Jimmie of Elma and a host of relatives and friends. Service was conducted at the home by Rev. Ave Bradley and Bill Hill. Burial was in the Bleivins cemetery near the home.

A surprise birthday party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hill in honor of Mrs. Hill's grandson's 21st birthday. The guests were: Misses Lillian and Virgie Webb, Ray and Grace Webb, Linnie and Alice Rowland, Maudie and Lester Hill, Buford Bleivins, Pearlle, Ola and Audie Elyte, Proctor, Johnnie, Bob and June Hill, Claudie Rowland and Mrs. Myrtle Hill. Refreshments were served at midnight. The Sunday afternoon guests of J. D. Rowland and family were Mrs. Dixie Cantrell, Mrs. Myrtle Cantrell and children, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Pennington and children, Lillian and Virgie Webb, Ray and Grace Webb, Charlie Cochran, Helen Webb and John Pelfrey.

Mrs. Mary Burchwell has gone to stay a while with her daughter, Beulah Mathew at Mima.

Miss Polly Rowland who is 86 years old has gone to stay with her brother, Joe Rowland at Fugate whom she had not seen for 12 years. Creed Rowland was Sunday visitor of Joe Rowland and family at Fugate.

PROTECTING OUR TIMBER

During the past two months the United States Forest Service has been devoting considerable time to fighting forest fires in the state of Kentucky. The majority of these fires have been located from the fire towers commonly known as "the eyes of the forest service" here on the Red river district, which is the northern part of the Cumberland national forest. There are seven such towers protecting an area of 346,115 acres of land between the Kentucky river and the northern end of Rowan county. These towers are located as follows:

Enix, Morehead, Triangle—in Rowan county.

McCauley, Tater Knob—in Menifee county.

Pine Ridge—in Wolfe county.

High Rock—in Powell county.

Bear Track—in Lee county.

The United States Forest Service welcomes visitors at these towers where trained men will explain the use of the radio equipment and the various other instruments to anyone interested. As these visitors stand looking off over the vast stretch of forest, extending as far as the eye can see, they cannot but help realize that the forest service is rendering the state of Kentucky a great service by protecting this forest from destruction. A great many of them have resolved that they will be more careful with fire in order that these forests may be kept green.

Before visitors leave the towers they are asked if they wish to register just as a matter of record. Already these registers show visitors from many states besides Kentucky. The Pine Ridge tower shows visitors from a foreign country, as on May 16 Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Ford registered from Kibosi, Boodenok Falls Postoffice, Kenya East Africa.

The Cumberland National Forest invites the people of Kentucky to visit these towers and to cooperate with us in preventing forest fires and thus encourage more and more out-of-state visitors to our beautiful forests.—Mt. Sterling Office.

Grant Egelston and the son of Roscoe Hutchinson visited on his sister, Miss Sallie Egelston Monday. Mrs. Hattie Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Webb at Wrigley was taken to the hospital Monday. Her mother started to Lexington looking off over the vast stretch of forest, extending as far as the eye can see, they cannot but help realize that the forest service is rendering the state of Kentucky a great service by protecting this forest from destruction. A great many of them have resolved that they will be more careful with fire in order that these forests may be kept green.

SALE—ENCORE EVENT

Your Dollars Are Safe at Williams Department Store

LADIES' SUMMER FROCKS ————— 49c up
Expensively Styled — Inexpensively Priced

Variety of specials from the men's shop—Sport Pants and Shirts to match, Athletic Shirts and Shorts, Socks, Hats, Wash Ties, and Sandals.

See Our Prices Before Buying Elsewhere

JUST ARRIVED All sizes Men's Best Grade STILLWATER SERGE SUITS

Kodak Pictures are inexpensive. Buy Films Here.

Williams Department Store

ZELPHIA GRAHAM, Mgr. WEST LIBERTY, KY.

Borrow a car from your FORD dealer and get that V-8 Feeling!

Then decide on the car to buy!

FIVE MINUTES ON THE ROAD with a Ford V-8 tells you why Ford performance is in a class by itself. When that V-8 feeling gets into your blood, you'll never be satisfied with anything less than eight cylinders!

Along with this unique power plant you'll find—THE COMFORT of a 123" springbase—nearly a foot longer than the wheelbase. THE SAFETY of a steel body, more braking surface per weight than has any car under $3,195, safety glass throughout.

THE GREATER ALL-AROUND ECONOMY of ownership that makes Ford the favorite of 2,500,000 motorists today.

FORD V-8

ROSE MOTOR COMPANY

Authorized Ford Sales and Service Station
West Liberty, Kentucky

$25.00
A MONTH
plus the usual low down payment will deliver a new Ford V-8 into your hands. Financing costs only 1/2 per cent a month under the new UCC plan. Prices $10 and up. F. O. B. Detroit.

Synthetic Gentleman

By Channing Pollock

Copyright, Channing Pollock
WNU Service

CHAPTER V—Continued

"Stop fretting," Barry commanded. "He'll be out in a month."

Barry's heart had gone out to Peggy and to her boy. A chorine with the domestic virtues of a clergyman's wife—that's what Peg was. "I'd like to give her a squirt at the underdog she thinks she despises so," he thought.

The next morning there were two responses to the advertisement suggested by Evans. Barry wrote asking both applicants for the reward to call at his rooms. On the way to The Globe he dropped in on Tim Laughery.

Tim had been assigned to a new case now, and regarded the Kelly matter as a closed incident. Barry's zeal amused him. "What're you talking about?" he inquired with mock seriousness. "Kelly? We're at the Ziegfeld follies, buddy."

Barry reported his interview with the Oriental.

Tim grinned. "We knew all about that ten days ago."

He produced his records.

"There was a call at 8:10. That came from a hotel in the Forties—an actress named Betty Barclay. Then there were three calls from Kelly's—at 8:22, 8:27 and 9:41. That first number's the house of a lawyer named Hood. Next comes the Yale club. And the third's a flat in Riverside drive."

"Whose?"

"I don't know."

"What about the call that came in while Rogers was there?"

"Boloney."

"You mean there wasn't any such call?"

"Not on my records. Of course, it might have been sent from a nickel-in-the-slot booth. You can't trace them things. Listen, pal, you're on a wild-goose chase. This Rogers had done it."

CHAPTER VI

Barry proceeded to The Globe, quite expecting to find his dismissal there. "I'm going to draw down fifty bucks," he thought, "and what have I done for it?"

But Ernie Harwood had caught the contagion for "stealing."

"The other papers have practically dropped it," he said. "Okay. We'll go on working quietly, and, some day, we'll turn up the story. It's good any day. And I'm dead sure now the cops have got the wrong party. Maybe they don't want to know who bumped off the big boss. What're you doing?"

Barry told him.

"Let's see those telephone numbers."

Standing over him, Barry pointed out that somebody had made two calls from Kelly's within eleven minutes after the receipt of the message from Betty Barclay. Harwood saw nothing remarkable about that. "But," Barry persisted, "who was 'somebody'?"

Kelly didn't get home till 11, the Filipino says. Mrs. Kelly was in Harlem. Who called the Yale club, and the flat on Riverside drive?"

Harwood sent for a newspaper file.

"I thought so," he observed, his finger on one of his pages. "Betty Barclay's the dame. Mrs. Kelly named when she was going to divorce Kelly."

Barry whistled.

"That might explain Mrs. Kelly calling a lawyer named Hood."

"The city editor glanced back at the file."

"Especially since he was her lawyer. Gimme that big red book."

Barry obeyed.

Hood. Graduated from Yale. He wasn't at home, so they tried to get him at his club. Law firm: Hood & Loring. Gimme the telephone book. Just a hunch, but—okay. The Riverside number's the home of Horace Loring. Somebody wanted legal advice that night, and wanted it bad."

"Who?"

"Use your imagination."

"Mrs. Kelly?"

"Sure. She took the call from Betty Barclay."

"She didn't. The butler took it."

"All right. Then he gave it to her, and she went wild. You want to know why the Oriental's 'crazy.' Well, that's why. He's trying to shield Mrs. Kelly. What you've got to do now is to check up on that girl."

They discussed ways and means. Also, they discussed Barry's other activities. Barry showed Ernie his advertisement, and the two responses. Harwood was skeptical.

"We might get the number of the taxi that killed the woman. What then? That was two hours after the murder. And, if you have the good fortune to get the taxi—the one that brought the midnight caller to Kelly's, if there was a midnight caller—how's the driver going to know who his fare was? No, son; that's beet-tops!"

Barry defended himself.

"You never can tell what you're going to get till you go after it."

Harwood was searching for that inevitable pipe.

"You're enthusiastic," he commented, "and that's something. In fact, it's everything. I figure getting anywhere as 5 per cent luck and 95 per cent enthusiasm. Now, beat it, I'm too busy for mathematics."

He smiled, almost as warmly and kindly as Winslow had done.

"You've got a nose for news," he went on. "When I hired you, I said you'd get a raise if you were worth it, and fired if you weren't. Well, I think you're worth a hundred a week."

"That's swell of you," Barry glowed. "But I don't see what I've done—"

Wednesday brought the desired letter from Hal Nulheim, and three more from gentlemen who hoped to receive the fifty-dollar reward. With these, as with their predecessors, Barry made appointments beginning at four o'clock Thursday. Mrs. Riddler's envelope contained a check drawn to her order by "the old man," and endorsed simply "Eleanor Riddler."

"She's a good business woman," Barry said to himself, ironically.

It hadn't occurred to her to doubt the sender of that telegram, or what he meant to do with the money.

"Winslow'll take it," Barry told Peggy, "and take his retainer out of it. Then he can give us his check for the rest. Winslow's name'll be on this check when it's returned to the old man, and, of course, that's all right."

"What'll we do with Winslow's check?"

"Start a bank account in your name. Then I'll go to you when we need funds, and tell you what for. Give this letter to Jack, and tell him it ought to make him ashamed of himself."

It almost did. Even more than the communication Barry had shown him, this answered Jack's question as to whether his mother cared. "I'm so glad you've got work," she had written, "and so glad you're taking an interest in that boy. It shows I've always been right about you. And it will help you, too. We can't help others without helping ourselves—making character. I want to boast—to your father. He's no better, though. Worse, if anything. Goodness knows when we shall get back to America, and I'm so anxious to get back—now."

The real Jack Riddler answered that letter without prompting, and the "fake" Jack Riddler posted the answer.

At three Thursday afternoon, he was in his rooms, preparing to quit the reward-seekers. Barry had read to know the ways of impostors.

The first caller was just that. "I was walking down Fifth avenue," he recounted, "and I happened to glance to my left. I saw the cub coming, lickety-split—"

"To your left?" Barry asked. "That would have been east. And Sixteenth street's for traffic from the west."

The second applicant was waiting by now—a lunch-counter clerk who'd run out of his place "to see what the excitement was about," but hadn't seen much. On his heels came an exceptionally interesting John. He was an M. D., he told Barry, "but business is bad, so I'm out to make a little."

"A little business?" Barry asked. "Well, I haven't hit anyone yet."

He was thirty-five, neatly dressed, and wore glasses, and his English was pure and unadorned. Moreover, he had a scientific instinct for observation. "I saw the taxi," he said, "and the woman step off the curb. I knew the cab would hit her, and it did."

"Get the number?"

"Of course," the visitor answered. "I took it down as the runaway crossed in front of me."

He produced a prescription pad.

Barry wrote it in the notebook to which he had transferred the number of Kelly's lost latch-key.

"How did you happen to be in lower Fifth avenue at that hour?" he asked.

"I went down—some time before—with a very singular person."

"Why do you say he was singular?"

"He acted strangely. At least, I thought so at the time. I picked him up in a tobaccoist's shop a few minutes before twelve o'clock. 'Where do you want to go?' I asked him."

"To a drug store," he answered. "There's one in the Flatiron building, at Broadway and Twenty-third street. Take me there."

"I seemed a long way to go for a drug store, but I supposed he knew someone, or wanted a special prescription. Anyway, it was none of my business, and I took him. He gave me a fifty-cent tip, and went into the Broadway entrance. Five minutes later, while I was wondering where to go next, I saw him walk out of the door that opened on Fifth avenue. I started back uptown."

"About half past one, I picked up a couple that wanted to go to the Brevoort, on Eighth street. I took 'em, and was making for Times square again when the traffic lights stopped me at Sixteenth. The taxi struck her, went right up on the pavement, smashed a lamp-post, and kept going. But I got the number."

"Then, of course, I jumped out of my cab and went to the woman. She was beyond help, though. And, by this time, a policeman had turned up, and I decided to move on." He smiled. "A taxi-driver learns to avoid the cops."

"So you didn't give the cop that license number?"

"What for? The woman was dead, and arresting some poor, scared taxi-man wasn't going to do her any good. I started back to my cab, and whom should I bump into but the chap I'd driven to the drug store. He was coming out of Sixteenth street, so lost in himself that he hadn't even noticed the crowd. 'Hello,' I said. 'We seem to be meeting a lot tonight.'"

"Who are you?" he asked, curiously. "I'm the taxi-driver who took you to a drug store on Twenty-third street a couple of hours ago."

"I never saw you before in my life. You've made a mistake," he said. "I live in this street, and I've been home all evening. You never drove me anywhere."

"Have it your own way," I said, and climbed into my buggy."

"I wasn't mistaken, and neither was he. He was in kind of a daze until he recognized me, and then he got almost hysterical. You'd've thought I'd accused him of murder."

The doctor rose from his chair.

"Maybe I'm doing that," he added. "There was a murder that night, you know; in that street. But, of course, you know. You didn't fool me."

"Then why did you answer it?"

"Well, my conscience has been hurting me a little," he smiled again.

"Who Are You?" He Asked Curtly.

"That's my number, and my name and address, if you want me."

"There's your fifty dollars."

"Thanks."

"I wish you could tell me more about your singular fare."

"I wish so, too, but I can't. I'd know him if I saw him again, but I'm not likely to see him."

"Would you mind leaving me a receipt for that money?" Barry asked.

"Certainly not."

"I like to have vouchers for what I pay out."

The doctor nodded, and went to the desk.

Barry was halted by an exclamation.

"What is it?" he asked.

The doctor turned to him.

"That's the man I saw in Sixteenth street," he said. "Believe it or not, that's the man."

In his hand was Barry's newspaper, with the picture of Judge Hamblidge.

"I must see Pat at once," Barry thought.

What was he going to say to her? Six days before, she had given him a pretty phin warning to keep out of this. Barry no longer had any doubt of that. He had decided to do so, and then Willets had rounded him up that gentlemen didn't "abandon ladies in distress." Well, what was a gentleman to do now?

"Damn it," he raged; "I can't blame her for wanting to protect her own father! And it doesn't make the least difference, anyway. I'll go on loving her if she's committed the murder!"

Once more, he asked himself what right he had to assume that either Pat or the Judge had anything to do with that murder. Facing the floor, he reviewed all his evidence again, and reached a conclusion as to what it indicated. That brought him back to the idea of himself as Pat's ally. "If I can make her see that," he said. "She's got to come clean, though. And she will. When I can tell her about Peggy, and make her understand that the truth will clear that boy. And then we can get together to clear the Judge. There might have been a whole lot of reasons—decent ones—for his going to Kelly's that night."

Evans showed at ten.

"I've been having dinner with Kelly's chauffeur. His name's Nolan. Evans said, 'and he don't talk much. We got pretty thick tonight, though.'"

"Suppose we start for home at nine in the morning," Barry said.

He was hungry, and tired of thinking, so he had a snack at the corner. Precisely at nine the next morning, he called at and told her he was coming. "Something important's happened," he said.

"Why not lunch with us?" Pat suggested.

"We're lucky if we get out by two," Barry told her. "And, anyway, I want to see you alone."

"I'll expect you at two," she said.

Evans was waiting, and full of his evening with Nolan. "I didn't dare ask a question," Evans reported. "He's the suspicious kind. I think he drinks, though, and a fellow that drinks is bound to loosen up some day."

"I'll him all he can hold," Barry counseled.

Conversation lapsed after that. Evans' passenger was rehearsing his part of the coming interview. "I'll bet she knows now what it's about," he speculated.

And she did.

"Come in," Pat invited, leading the way to the drawing room.

Pat indicated a chair. "Sit there," she bade him. "It's awfully warm for June."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

Uncommon Sense

JOHN BLAKE

© Bell Syndicate—WNU Service

Somebody has said that it is not so remarkable that Columbus discovered America as

Channel Marks

It would have been discovered it. But, thought Columbus never dreamed that he had discovered America, or even that there was an America to discover, the credit for his exploit can never be taken away from him.

Today looking out of a window on the coast of Maine I can see dozens of channel buoys without which steamships would find it as difficult to find their way into the harbor as it was for the Genoese explorer to discover San Salvador.

Some of these marks are light-houses, some of them are red or black spars, some of them are great iron buoys which blow a warning whistle with every lift and fall of the sea.

To maintain this system of warnings, which is found at the entrance of every port on both coasts of America, required not only a great deal of money, but an almost incredible amount of courage on the part of the lighthouse builders, and the men whose business it is to see that the buoys are always in their place, ready to give their warnings.

Neither storm nor cold can turn from their watchful task.

Let a single buoy go astray, or a single lighthouse fail to "throw its beam across the wave," and every ship entering or leaving port may be in danger.

To build up this almost perfect system has required many years and a great deal of risk.

But were the marks not carefully watched and tended, reaching a port either by night or by day would be a perilous business.

There was once a master mariner who when asked how he could know every rock in the entrance to a harbor said:

"I don't. But I know where the deep water is."

In our own little voyages to and fro on our way, we are just as well supplied with channel marks as are the ships that move in and out of the ports along the seaboard.

If we heed those marks we pass in safety. If we are even just a little careless disaster is sure to follow.

Make it your business to "know where the deep water is," and you will have no trouble.

Disregard the warning that they carry as they rock on the waves, and not even a little port-to-port journey will be safe.

Many rocks and shoals beset every journey from the cradle to the grave.

But ours is an old race, and it has accumulated much knowledge acquired from those who have gone before.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and hunt out what you fancy may be short cuts, and you need not be surprised if you pile up your little bark on the rocks, or sink her before you reach the port which is the goal of your ambition.

Make use of that knowledge if you want to go safely through existence.

"Take chances," and

THE NATION BOWS IN TRIBUTE

With heads bowed, and minds at rest, we pause once more to pay our brief tribute to the soldier dead of this great nation. They were ready and willing when their homes needed protection, when the land that was theirs was in need. They have given their all that we today might be free; to them we owe a gratitude greater than we can show. "Greater love hath no man than this—Let us accord them due honor."

Poem Stilled Strife

By the flow of the inland river,
Where the blades of the grave-grass quiver,
Asleep are the ranks of the dead;
Under the sod and the dew.
Waiting the judgment day:
Under the one the Blue,
Under the other, the Gray.

These in the robes of glory,
Those in the gloom of defeat,
All with the battle-blood gory,
In the dusk of eternity meet:
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day:
Under the laurel, the Blue,
Under the willow, the Gray.

No more shall the war-cry sever,
Or the winding rivers be red;
They banish their anger forever
When they laud the graves of our dead!
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day:
Love and tears for the Blue,
Tears and love for the Gray.

THE first spring following the close of the Civil war found a group of southern women decorating the graves of the soldier dead. They placed their floral tributes on all the graves regardless of the color of the uniform the buried men wore. That these mothers, sisters and widows could remember the northern soldiers with the same tribute of love that they remembered their own dead brought about a feeling of tolerance all over the country. This little ceremony inspired the poet, Francis Miles Finch, to write his poem, "The Blue and the Gray."

Later it was set to music, and the singing and reading of it did more to establish harmony than any of the well thought out plans of reconciliation of the diplomats. The second spring after the war, the northern women decorated the graves of the southern men as well as the graves of their own dead.

In 1908 General Logan commanded all the soldiers' graves to be decorated. The same year New York declared Memorial day a legal holiday and state after state followed its example. So one day toward the latter part of May the dead are honored and a just tribute is paid to memories.

Since this day has been largely responsible for establishing harmony between the North and South it is also due to its results that battles from the South and waifs from the North now gather in the same social cliques.

PRIZE BUST OF LEE

Among the thin ranks of the G. A. R. veterans there may yet be a man to whom a portrait bust of Gen. Robert E. Lee, carved in the old American walnut, will be a stirring memory of the days of '61.

For this bust was the trophy of a Union infantryman, taken by him from a captured Confederate gunboat.

But little is known of the bust's history; a battered gunboat, raked and shattered by gunfire, drifted helplessly upon a sand bar off Natchez during one of those historic engagements on the broad bosom of the Mississippi. Once aground her crew put up a brief but fierce resistance to the Federal forces, but the odds were against them and before long the Union men were aboard the little vessel.

There one man found this bust—half buried, but unharmed—a tribute to the hardness of the good American walnut from which it had been carved. Who had been its carver no one knows.

Displaying the Flag
When the flag is displayed on Memorial day, it is hoisted to full staff, then lowered to half staff and left in this position until noon. It is then hoisted back to full staff and kept there until sunset. The hour which should be regarded as noon is the time in use, whether standard or daylight saving.

OUR PATRIOTIC MUSIC

WILLIAM BILLINGS is credited with being the author of the first American patriotic song, one that became popular with Colonial troops in the Revolutionary war, although there was no specific title for it. Another early one was "The Liberty Song," published in 1768, calling on the people to unite for liberty. The first American-made patriotic sea song was "The Yankee Man-of-War," written about 1778, to commemorate the exploits of Capt. John Paul Jones, "Yankee Doodle," known as an American patriotic ballad, was an English song at the beginning of the Revolution and an American song at its close. It was ordered played by General Lafayette at the surrender of the British forces at Yorktown. Joseph Hopkinson wrote the words of "Hail Columbia," which were adapted to the air of the "President's March," the composer of which is not definitely known. "The Star-Spangled Banner" was written by Francis Scott Key after witnessing the bombardment of Ft. Mifflin in 1814. The air is from a song by the English composer, John Stafford Smith, entitled "God Save the King." "John Brown's Body," composed by William Steffe, was sung by Sherman's troops on their march to the sea. "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," written by Julia Ward Howe after visiting the Army of the Potomac in December, 1861, is sung to the same tune. "The Battle Cry of Freedom" was written by George F. Root to aid President Lincoln's second call for troops during the Civil war. "Tramp, Tramp," by the same author, became known during the war as "the song of hope." Henry Clay Work's song, "Marching Through Georgia," is regarded as commemorating one of the greatest military feats of the conflict. "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" was written by Patrick S. Gilmore, under the pen name of "Louis Lambert."

Ever Faithful

There's a study in devotion here, as this loyal veteran stands on his drum in preparation for what may be his last march. Even as he answered the bugle when his country called, so now he will not fail when comes the time to pay homage and respect to his fallen comrades. He'll march today with the last remnants of what was once a great army, faithful in peace as he was in war. May his spirit never perish from the hearts of men.

Memorial Day

Cy Warman in the Indianapolis News.

Gather the garlands rare today,
Snow-white roses and roses red;
Gather the fairest flowers of May,
Heap them up on the graves of clay,
Gladden the graves of the noble dead.

Pile them high as the soldiers were Piled on the field where they fought and fell;
They will rejoice in their new place there
Today, as they walk where the fragrant air
Is sweet with the scent of asphodel.

Many a time, I've heard it said,
They fell so close where the battles were,
Their hot blood rippled, and, running red,
Ran out like a rill from the drifted dead,
Staining the heath and the daisies there.

This day the friends of the soldiers keep,
And they will keep it through all the years.
To the silent city where soldiers sleep
Will come with flowers, to watch and weep
And water the garlands with their tears.

FEW now survive from among those for whom Memorial day was particularly established. The ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic are shattered. Younger men, veterans of later wars, take the place of those who wore the blue or gray from Bull Run to Appomattox, as symbols of the nation's strength in arms.

Forms of observance change with the times, but the underlying spirit of thoughtful remembrance remains ever fresh and unalterable. To those who first thought of setting apart a day each year for patriotic remembrance such an event as that now staged annually at Indianapolis or the baseball double header or the highways crowded with pleasure-seeking motorists would have been as inconceivable as the radio to an aborigine. But one likes to believe that these manifestations of American life do not in the least modify the nation's sense of devotion to the memory of those who have borne her arms to victory.

There is needed in these diverting and troublous days some special occasion when minds shall turn to the men who have dared to bare their breasts to an enemy in war, who have seen in their country's flag something more than a piece of coloring and been convinced that a nation worth founding was worth defending even at the expense of life and treasure. One hears much in these days of pacifism, of oaths solemnly taken never to bear arms in war, of the supposed mockery of popular government, the rise of dictatorships and the smashing of treaties. One hears too little of the innumerable thousands of staunch American hearts which still believe in national honor, the Constitution and the causes for which men in the past have been proud to die.

A people ready to observe Memorial day is not one to give way to despair. Today we honor the patriot dead. We honor, no less, the living who are inspired by the example of those whose graves they decorate.

Where Our Troops Stopped

A RUGGED monument of war implements, mortar and stone, marking the extreme point of advance of the American army during the World war, still stands on a hill east of Buzancy, France, years after it was constructed by American soldiers on Armistice day, 1918.

The monument not only marks the farthest advance of the American army on the western front during the World war—it also marks the ground where at least four major wars of history have ended.

The monument is composed of German war weapons, including helmets, rifles, bayonets, swords, barbed-wire, gray pieces of uniform, and two small field guns. Encrusted in mortar, the enemy's arms of war were permanently "bound," symbolizing American victory.

This spot has always known strife. In 1570 Moltke's Prussians crossed the Meuse near here and humbled the French under Napoleon III on this ground. That battle ended the Franco-Prussian war.

Battle cries echoed in the hills of Buzancy little more than a half century earlier when Napoleon was terrorizing central Europe. Only a short distance away is Waterloo.

Richelieu, dictator of France in 1641, was crushed on this noted battlefield by a combination of French and Spanish forces, and the Swedes journeyed to this battle ground at an earlier date, ending a bloody conflict with the Franks.

The Unknown Soldier

UNDER the Arc de Triomphe in Paris, where an eternal flame is kept burning, is the grave of the Unknown Soldier of France. Surrounded by a grille and a roped enclosure in the floor above the Great Britain's Unknown Soldier lies at Britain's Unknown Soldier in Westminster Abbey. Italy's Unknown Soldier is buried beneath the altar of Victor Emmanuel monument in Rome.

Roomy Beach Pajamas With Yoke, Sleeves, Front Panel in One to Facilitate Making

Pattern No. 1701-B

Plenty of room is included for active arms and legs in this exceedingly smart and youthful beach pajama. Yoke, sleeves, and front panel are all one piece cleverly combined to minimize your sewing time and eliminate complicating tricks.

Large unusual buttons down the center front panel, a demure Peter Pan collar plus a wide self-fabric belt and the blouse is complete. The waist is gathered to the yoke in front and back, giving a flattering fullness and smooth appearance. Make this lovely tailored model in silk crepe, voile, or percale for lounging and clinging, pique, or linen for the beach.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1701-B is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 10 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 (34) requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material. Send fifteen cents for the pattern.

Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 367 W. Adams St., Chicago, Ill.
© Best Syndicate—WNL Service

SMILES

Hereditary?
Jones had never been on an ocean voyage before, and on his disembarking from a stant liner an acquaintance inquired: "Well, old man, what do you think of this great vessel?" "Marvelous," the traveler replied. "Believe me I'd never have known I was on the ocean at all if I hadn't been seasick most of the trip."

True to Life
She—I'm awfully glad you've got a part in the dramatic society's next show. Have you much to say?
He—Practically nothing. I'm playing the part of a husband.

Ask Us Another
Teacher—What tense is "I am beautiful?"
Class (in unison)—Past tense.

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT
THE PERFECT GUM
INEXPENSIVE - SATISFYING

Iron the Easy Way

with the GENUINE INSTANT LIGHTING COLEMAN SELF-HEATING IRON

The Coleman is a genuine Instant Lighting Iron. All you have to do is turn a valve, strike a match and it lights instantly. You don't have to insert the match inside the iron—no burned fingers.

The Coleman irons in a jiffy, is quicky ready for use. Extra heating surface is heated with the hot bottom. Maintains its heat even for the fast worker. Ironing will be a pleasure for you. You do your ironing with less effort, in less time. It's sure your best friend. The genuine Instant Lighting Coleman. It's the iron every woman wants. It's a wonder. Coleman is the easy way to iron. Send for a FREE Folder and Full Details. THE COLEMAN LAMP AND STOVE CO., 1001 W. 11th St., Waukegan, Ill. (Chicago, Ill. Phone 10-10-10). Los Angeles, Calif. 1011 W.

WANTS ACTION
"Wouldn't you like to see the lion and the lamb play a football game?"
"Me for the bear and the bull."

THE SHOP SHOWS A PROFIT

Of course, children should never drink coffee. And many grown-ups, too, find that the caffeine in coffee disagrees with them. If you are bothered by headaches or indigestion or can't sleep soundly . . . try Postum for 30 days. You may miss coffee at first, but after 30 days you'll not only feel better, but you'll love Postum for its own rich, satisfying flavor. And it contains no caffeine. It is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened. It is easy to make, delicious, economical, and may prove a real help. A product of General Foods.

FREE—Let us send you your first week's supply of Postum free! Simply mail coupon. © 1936 G. F. COOP.

General Foods, Battle Creek, Mich. W. N. U. 4-2028
Send me, without obligation, a week's supply of Postum.
Name _____
Street _____
City _____ State _____
Fill in completely, print name and address.
If you live in Canada, address: General Foods Ltd., Cobourg, Ont. (Offer expires Dec. 31, 1936.)

HEARD AROUND THE CORNER

LIBERTY ROAD

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gibson had business in West Liberty Wednesday. Miss Eva Terry has returned to her home at Guerrant. Her aunt, Mrs. Russell Hale returned with her for an extended visit.

Geoffrey Leach was at Blackwater Saturday afternoon.

Clarence, Rudy and Mrs. Rebekah Adams and sons, Opa and Oral of Franklin, Ohio were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hale.

May portion of new East visited Zack Bantz Sunday.

Walter Smith was in West Liberty Saturday afternoon.

MAYTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Pieratt, who had been visiting her father, Jim Lacy and family returned to her home Saturday at Maytown, Ohio.

Mr. H. W. Back was called last week to the city on the account of the death of her sister, Miss Martha Rose, wife of Mr. Edna Arnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Easterling is confined to bed with flu.

R. T. Johnson is still in a serious condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ingram and children, Roy, Lemel, Napier and Lillian, arrived Sunday with Mr. Ingram's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Ingram.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rowland spent Sunday at Ezel.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Ringo of Maytown were at Nannie Saturday afternoon on business.

J. M. Rowland was at Bonny on Sunday afternoon.

FLAT WOODS

Joe Gibson and Miss Lula Gibson, Otto Ratliff and Russel and Curn Hale returned Saturday from a visit to Middletown, Ohio.

Randall Adams of Dehart visited relatives and friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Reed are moving to their farm at Hilltop recently bought of Elmer Fugate.

Mr. Sherman Robinson and daughter, Mary and Nova are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams at Landsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Oakley and children, all been working in Middletown, Ohio, returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure of Sellers was called to Landsburg here Friday.

James Adams will preach at the Flat Woods cemetery Saturday, May 30, at 2 p.m.

Robert Blakey was calling on friends all around Woodbend Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron May and Mrs. Lee May were the afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Henry Sunday.

The communion meeting will be at Flat Woods on the Sunday in June. Rev. Robert Blakey will preach on the week end before and over the week end periods is invited to attend the communion service and all Christians are invited to attend the communion service and all Christians are invited to attend the communion service.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams at Landsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Oakley and children, all been working in Middletown, Ohio, returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure of Sellers was called to Landsburg here Friday.

James Adams will preach at the Flat Woods cemetery Saturday, May 30, at 2 p.m.

Robert Blakey was calling on friends all around Woodbend Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron May and Mrs. Lee May were the afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Henry Sunday.

The communion meeting will be at Flat Woods on the Sunday in June. Rev. Robert Blakey will preach on the week end before and over the week end periods is invited to attend the communion service and all Christians are invited to attend the communion service.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams at Landsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Oakley and children, all been working in Middletown, Ohio, returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure of Sellers was called to Landsburg here Friday.

James Adams will preach at the Flat Woods cemetery Saturday, May 30, at 2 p.m.

Robert Blakey was calling on friends all around Woodbend Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron May and Mrs. Lee May were the afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Henry Sunday.

The communion meeting will be at Flat Woods on the Sunday in June. Rev. Robert Blakey will preach on the week end before and over the week end periods is invited to attend the communion service and all Christians are invited to attend the communion service.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams at Landsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Oakley and children, all been working in Middletown, Ohio, returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure of Sellers was called to Landsburg here Friday.

James Adams will preach at the Flat Woods cemetery Saturday, May 30, at 2 p.m.

Robert Blakey was calling on friends all around Woodbend Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron May and Mrs. Lee May were the afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Henry Sunday.

The communion meeting will be at Flat Woods on the Sunday in June. Rev. Robert Blakey will preach on the week end before and over the week end periods is invited to attend the communion service and all Christians are invited to attend the communion service.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams at Landsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Oakley and children, all been working in Middletown, Ohio, returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure of Sellers was called to Landsburg here Friday.

James Adams will preach at the Flat Woods cemetery Saturday, May 30, at 2 p.m.

Robert Blakey was calling on friends all around Woodbend Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron May and Mrs. Lee May were the afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Henry Sunday.

The communion meeting will be at Flat Woods on the Sunday in June. Rev. Robert Blakey will preach on the week end before and over the week end periods is invited to attend the communion service and all Christians are invited to attend the communion service.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams at Landsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Oakley and children, all been working in Middletown, Ohio, returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure of Sellers was called to Landsburg here Friday.

James Adams will preach at the Flat Woods cemetery Saturday, May 30, at 2 p.m.

Robert Blakey was calling on friends all around Woodbend Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron May and Mrs. Lee May were the afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Henry Sunday.

The communion meeting will be at Flat Woods on the Sunday in June. Rev. Robert Blakey will preach on the week end before and over the week end periods is invited to attend the communion service and all Christians are invited to attend the communion service.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams at Landsburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Oakley and children, all been working in Middletown, Ohio, returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure of Sellers was called to Landsburg here Friday.

James Adams will preach at the Flat Woods cemetery Saturday, May 30, at 2 p.m.

Robert Blakey was calling on friends all around Woodbend Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron May and Mrs. Lee May were the afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Henry Sunday.

The communion meeting will be at Flat Woods on the Sunday in June. Rev. Robert Blakey will preach on the week end before and over the week end periods is invited to attend the communion service and all Christians are invited to attend the communion service.

LENEX

May 26.—Born, May 14, to Mr. and Mrs. Leander Johnson, a baby girl—Emma Kathleen.

Woodrow Johnson, son of Leander Johnson, fell and broke his leg one day last week. He is getting along nicely under the care of Dr. H. B. Murray.

T. H. Day and family had as their guests Sunday C. H. Black, Ova Black and family, and Mrs. Curtis Elliott, all of West Liberty.

Mrs. Belle Ison of Lick Branch, who had been visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. J. J. Johnson, of Cow Branch, went home Sunday.

Farmers of this community are busy hoeing corn and setting tobacco.

DAT & MIKE

LICKING RIVER

May 26.—Mrs. Jim Frank Lewis of Yogan has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jim Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wells, Mrs. Matt Lewis, Mrs. Mollie Henry, Miss Joyce Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wells, and Patton Fugate attended the funeral of Uriah Fugate.

Luther Leach of Liberty Road spent one day last week with Mr. and Mrs. Willard Lewis.

Mrs. Matt Lewis and Mrs. J. B. Wells attended church at the J. W. Henry cemetery on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor McKenzie and children, Adeline and Oleta and Mrs. W. H. Wells spent Monday with Henry Wells and family.

Rev. Harlan McClure of Sellers was in this section last week.

Mrs. Mort Neal and daughters, Janet and Louise, and Grace May, of Neal Valley, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Patton Fugate.

LIBERTY ROAD

May 25.—C. R. Hale was in West Liberty on business one day last week.

Miss Belle Evans had as Sunday guests Misses Elnora and Hilda Faye Jackson, of Index, Miss Christine Prater of White Oak; Messrs. Rheul and Homer Jackson of Index, Hobert and Ernest Fairchild of West Liberty, Woodrow Barker of Panama, Coburn and Alvin Evans, and William Lewis, of this place.

A. T. Lowe was in Ashland on business one day last week.

Russel and Curren Hale spent the past week in Middletown, Ohio, visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Julia Short of Ohio, Mrs. Lizzie Fairchild of West Liberty, and Mr. and Mrs. Lark Jackson of Index were Sunday guests of Mrs. Sallie Evans.

The many friends of Jack Ratliff are glad to know he is steadily improving.

Bascom Elam was a business visitor in West Liberty on Saturday.

SUNSHINE

LENEX

May 25.—Mrs. Bill Phillips and children, of Clearfield, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Adkins, the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Winford Williams and Miss Marcella Caskey had business in West Liberty on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tyree and children, Jessie, Louise, James, Betty Jean, and Virginia were Sunday dinner guests of her brother, Leander Johnson, at Cow Branch.

J. J. Holbrook and Ellis Adkins, of this place, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Trimble.

Miss Gladys Holbrook of Pomp is employed at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Adkins, at Stoughton Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Winford Williams were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Pelfrey of Elamton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Day and little daughter, of Middletown, Ohio, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lefe Day, this week.

Walter McClain, James Williams, and Mack Caskey, of this place, attended church at Wells Creek on Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clyde Day of Elkfork were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Day's mother, Mrs. Luther Adkins, here.

Mrs. J. D. Davidson and Mrs. Evert Day had as Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Oscar McKenzie and daughter, Mrs. Jay Burton, of West Liberty, and Misses Lorene and Ardene Day of Elkfork.

JEPHTHA

Mrs. Missouri Sparks has been the guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Ison of Cindies Creek the past week.

M. C. Bradley of Dingus and Elder and Mrs. R. H. Ferguson visited last Sunday night at Nippa, Johnson Co., the guests of Mrs. Ferguson's mother, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Vauhouse and transacted business in Paintsville Monday.

Elder and Mrs. Jesse Gambell attended the memorial meeting at the Uncle Ike Ferguson cemetery on Paint last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Caudill of Logville, are the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milt Sparks.

Mrs. Thurman Ferguson has been sick the past week.

R. R. Smith who has been sick for some time is much improved and he and Mrs. Smith are visiting relatives at Portsmouth, Ohio.

J. W. Pelfrey Sr. of Elamton was here on business Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Auty Ferguson were at West Liberty on business one day last week.

Frank Day is building a dwelling house on his farm at the mouth of Middlefork and will occupy it when completed.

H. S. Day living on his father's old home place near the mouth of Williams Creek has entered the mercantile business. He was in business at Lenox for about twenty years. He has built one of the most up to date modern homes in the county, which speaks well for Mr. and Mrs. Day, and family who compose one of the best families in eastern Kentucky.

THE MOTORIST'S PRAYER

Grant me a steady hand and watchful eye.

That no man shall be hurt when I pass by.

Thou gavest life, and I pray no act of mine

May take away or mar that gift of Thine.

Shelter those, dear Lord, who bear me company,

From the evils of fire and all calamity.

Teach me to use my car for others' need,

Nor miss thru love of speed

The beauties of Thy world; that thus I may

With joy and courtesy go my way.

SCHEDULE OF SERVICES

M. E. CHURCH SOUTH

First Sunday: West Liberty 11 a.m. Cannel City 7:00 p.m.

Second Sunday: Goodwin Chapel 11 a.m. Cannel City 2:30 p.m. West Liberty 7:30 p.m.

Third Sunday: West Liberty 11 a.m. Cannel City 6 p.m.

Fourth Sunday: Cannel City 11 a.m. Goodwin Chapel 2:30 p.m. West Liberty 7:30 p.m.

Young people's division, West Liberty, every Sunday at 6:45 p.m.

A cordial invitation is extended to you to attend these services.

REV. CLYDE BOGGS

Getting a Job and Getting Ahead

By Floyd B. Foster,
Vocational Counselor,
International Correspondence Schools

The Qualities of Leadership

GETTING ahead in your job demands capacity for leadership and ability to "deliver the goods." Have you prepared yourself to hold down a better job? Do you know your present work so well that you can direct others in doing it? Are you willing to assume greater responsibilities?

If your answer is "yes" you have gone a long way toward solving the problem of getting ahead. But mental attitude and personality are also important, for these are traits that are constantly in evidence and by them the employer must to a considerable extent judge your ability to direct others wisely and without friction.

In contacts with an employer no one should turn himself into a "yes man." Neither should he go around with a chip on his shoulder just to show how independent he is. If you think "yes" say so just as readily as you should say "no" if you mean "no." The man who can do this displays the balance and bigness that is needed in business today.

Some men on the way up are afraid to develop others to take their place. If you have prepared no one to take over your present work, how can you reasonably expect promotion when there is no one to replace you? Leadership demands the ability and willingness to train able assistants.

Thousands are always waiting to be employed for the ordinary jobs, but those who can lead travel an uncrowded highway that runs straight to success.

African Descent

Among the Ashantis of Africa descent is reckoned on the female side. The nearest heir-at-law is not the son but the sister's son.

Iron Once Ornament

Copper and tin were the first useful metals to be discovered, iron being originally used only as an ornament.

Hints To Gardeners

By Harold Coulter
Vegetable Expert
Ferry Seed Institute

Fighting Vegetable Pests

THERE are two major classifications of insect pests—chewing and sucking. Chewing insects, such as beetles, leave telltale holes in leaves. Control by dusting or spraying plants with arsenicals (poisons with arsenate of lead as a base) or pyrethrum. These remedies are known as stomach poisons, for they must be eaten by the insects. Plants commonly attacked include cucumber, squash, other vine crops, mustard, tomato and pepper. Presence of sucking insects, such as aphids or plant lice, is indicated by a general lack of vitality in the plant. Control by dusting or spraying directly on the insects, nicotine sulphate or pyrethrum. These insects do not eat exterior plant texture and must be killed by a contact poison. Among plants attacked are peas, pepper, cabbage and related crops.

All seedlings may well be treated early with light application of an arsenical.

Special treatment should be given two pests—cutworm and leaf beetle. The former (a chewing insect) is very fond of tender pepper, tomato and cabbage plants, and is controlled by spreading about a spoonful of "poison bran bait" near each plant. This should be done at nightfall. Leaf beetle (also a chewing insect) is found on tomato, pepper, turnips and other plants. It can be repelled by a Bordeaux mixture spray.

Remember this important "don't": Don't use arsenicals on the edible portion of vegetables within 14 days of the time they are to be used. Pyrethrum sprays, however, are equally effective and may be safely used at any time.

Sold Winds

In the Middle Ages the Lapps and Finns were famed for the business of selling winds to sailors and others. They would sell a cord with three knots in it, one loosed a fair wind, two a storm, and three a gale.

Hints for Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

THE redecorating season is almost here. All of us are either thinking about new spring and summer furnishings for our homes and apartments, or we have already begun buying and sewing. Let's start off correctly this year by putting up fresh, sparkling new window shades.

No matter how gay and summery your new curtains are, they can't hide dingy, crumpled, badly hanging shades. And we all know our windows tell our neighbors a great deal about us.

Clever women who take a great deal of pride in their homes are harmonizing their window shades with their curtains and draperies. A white shade looks best with white curtains. Why not use a rich, golden cream shade with your soft green, pale yellow or cream curtains? A grand idea, and you can carry it through for every room in the house. The result is so smart and new, we'll wager you'll get many a compliment from your neighbors on your good taste!

A word to the wise and thrifty—don't buy just any shade—get the better kind. They're made of excellent quality window shade cloth that is specially processed with an oil paint. These shades give you long wear, they have an amazing amount of body, and they're not "weighted" with starching and other foreign matter that washes out with the first rainstorm. And if all this isn't enough, they're hung on good sturdy rollers!

Nevada's Population

Nevada is the least-populated state in the Union. There are but 100,000 people in the state, which has an area of 110,000 square miles.

You're trusting to Luck...

WHEN YOU BUY THE unknown

It may be fun to "take a chance"—but why gamble when you buy razor blades? Selling at 4 for 10¢, Probak Jr. is a double-edge blade of known quality—made by the world's largest producer of razor blades. It is automatically ground, honed and stropped by special process that guarantees the utmost in shaving comfort and economy. This blade whisks through the stiffest whiskers—glides over the tenderest spots without pull or irritation. Prove this for yourself. Buy a package of Probak Jr. at your dealer today—and slip one in your razor tomorrow morning.

PROBAK JUNIOR BLADES

A PRODUCT OF THE WORLD'S LARGEST BLADE MAKERS

